M'ARTHUR PLEDGES JAP DEFEAT

Canberra, Australia

March 20 (AP)

•OFFICIAL NEWS

United States forces in Australia drew fresh inspiration today from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's promise of an all-out offensive to wrest back the Philippines, while the fight for this continent's northern approaches flared anew on the embattled outpost of New Guinea.

Gen. MacArthur, in his first interview since assuming supreme command of all Allied forces, disclosed that the primary purpose was to relieve beleaguered Bataan.

Gen. MacArthur said:

"The President of the United States asked me to break through the Japanese lines and to proceed from Corregidor to Australia for the purpose of reorganizing American defenses against Japan.

"The primary purpose of this is the relief of the Philippines.

"I came through and I will return."

"What he says is the truth," was the pledge of Prime Minister John Curtin of Australia, who announced MacArthur would reach Canberra Tuesday, to confer with the war council.

"We will hold what we have and will take back what we lost," declared Curtin.

"Gen. MacArthur's gallant men in the Philippines will find Australia and her allies advancing toward them."

In New Guinea Australian snipers—some of them "minute men" drafted from the civilian population—opened fire today on a Nazi-directed Japanese column seeking to push up the Markham river valley to gain its many fine airports for intensified attacks on Port Moresby.

Correspondents at Port Moresby wrote that the Japanese had crossed only the first and easiest part of the Markham Valley and still faced miles of malarial swamps, jungles and mountain ranges rising to a height of 13,000 feet.

They saw the primary enemy aim as seizure of air fields to enable them to disperse their own aircraft in the face of intensified battering by the Allies.

(The Berlin radio relayed Tokyo reports that the Japanese were 200 miles northwest of Port Moresby "without opposition." That would place the invaders about 70 miles up the valley from the coast town of Lae, one of their original beachheads.)

Port Moresby, some 180 miles south of the Markham and 300 miles across Torres Strait from the Australian mainland, had two new air attacks today—one by four fighter planes which raked the air-

•OFFICIAL NEWS

Fierce fighting on the front facing Kharkov, "the Pittsburgh of Russia," was reported by the Moscow radio today, as an inspired Red army forced a huge concentration of German tanks to turn back.

Swift night raids by the Russians pierced the enemy defenses at several other points, the broadcast said, inflicting heavy casualties on the Nazi legions.

The Russians continued to advance on both the Smolensk and Donets fronts, reoccupying several new villages near Smolensk and driving back German reinforcements with heavy losses, the Moscow radio reported, on the southwest front.

Meantime the Nazi high command was said to be fighting desperately on the flanks of the Rzhev-Vyazma pocket to stem the Russian tide, gradually encircling the huge pocket in which 400,000 Nazi troops were said to be trapped. The town of Gzhatsk on the eastern tip of the pocket was reported isolated, and the Russian forces storming its outer defenses.

SPEEDS ATTACK

To the south, Marshal Timoshenko was reported speeding up the intensity of his attack on Kharkov with support of the Red air force.

There was reported a feeling here in the Soviet capital that the next three weeks will bring sensational developments in the entire campaign.

A Stockholm dispatch said the Red army was throwing huge 64-ton tanks, capable of standing up against the strongest anti-tank guns, against the Nazis. It is rumored, Stockholm said, that an even more formidable monster—a 90-tonner—was being tested in the Kharkov area.

Meantime, the Germans were employing large numbers of their biggest tanks and warplanes on the southwest front, but were still unable to breach the Soviet lines.

Both armies were suffering heavily in the fighting on the Rzhev-Vyazma sector, said reports from the front. Heavy rains in this area have somewhat handicapped action around Kharkov for many miles.

London reports said that Soviet naval cutters in the Baltic have sunk eight German submarines and shot down 23 planes during the past few weeks.

An article in Izvestia today described how the Russians are repairing the roads and railway bridges of leading communications westward on the central front.

NEW FRONT SOON TO OPEN IN BURMA

London

March 20 (INS)

•OFFICIAL NEWS

While the opening moves in the battle for Central Burma were focussed on the Irrawaddy and Toungoo fronts, the wild and little-known jungle country in the Pegu Yoma mountains was expected to be another scene of action soon, according to reports here today.

It is not doubted that the Japanese, assisted by traitor Burmese, are conversant with every inch of the forbidding territory, and will exploit their favorite infiltrating and encircling tactics against which the British have taken all measures of preparedness, these reports declared.

The enemy is making a fierce attempt to drive northward by two routes, military observers said, the first following the Sittang river toward Houngoo, 190 miles below Mandalay, and the other paralleling the Irrawaddy river up to Prome.

The Japanese were reported to be using a considerable number of boats, capable of carrying 100 men each, which they seized in occupied territory. They were said to be landing forces at night for operations between the river and the road, both running north to Prome.

The British imperials and the Chinese armies were said to be linked together in a front that stretched from Prome to Toungoo, held by the British, and connecting with the Chinese extending east and then swinging north along the Burma-Thai border.

India-China U.S. Chief in Victory Vow

Chungking,

March 20 (AP)

•U. S. OFFICIAL

United States Lieut.-Gen. Joseph W. Stillwell announced today he had been placed in command of all U. S. forces in China, India and Burma, and promised:

"We won't be satisfied until we see American and Chinese troops in Tokyo together."

Stilwell, recently made chief of staff to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, allied supreme commander in the China theater, pledged:

"Everything China needs to help her war effort will be furnished without reservation.

"ON TO TOKYO!"

"President Roosevelt has expressed his determination to use all means necessary to clear China of the Japanese," he told his first press conference. "I am unable to go into details as to just what help or equipment is on the way, but you may assume from the fact that I have been assigned to command any United States forces in China, Burma and India that the effort contemplated is large.

"The United States means business and we won't be satisfied until we see American and Chinese troops in Tokyo together."

Stilwell has just returned from an inspection trip to the British-Chinese positions in Burma, where he also commands the Fifth and Sixth Chinese armies.

Stilwell warned against impatience while the United Nations are mustering forces for the in-

U. S. BOMBS RAKE CRUISER AT RABAUL

Washington

March 20 (AP)

•U. S. OFFICIAL

The War Department reported today that two American Army bombers scored a direct hit on a large enemy cruiser in a raid on the harbor of Rabaul, New Britain island, northeast of Australia.

The attack took place Wednesday, a communique said.

(Prime Minister John Curtin of Australia announced at Melbourne yesterday that "our aircraft' bombed a cruiser, scoring a direct hit on the stern and noting smoke belching from the vessel and that "near misses" were observed on two other larger vessels. This apparently was the same action announced by the War Department.)

At the same time the War Department disclosed that 15 Army officers and men accompanied Gen. Douglas MacArthur on his transfer from the Philippines to Australia to take command of the United Nations forces in the southwest Pacific.

The group, headed by Maj.-Gen. Richard K. Sutherland of Elkins, W. Va., MacArthur's chief of staff, included five brigadier generals, Mrs. MacArthur and youthful Arthur MacArthur.

On the Philippine fighting front, meanwhile, no activity was reported.

U.S. Fliers' Epic Story In South Pacific War

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA, March 20—Thrilling new chapters of incredible heroism by American combat pilots are being written hourly in this increasingly active theater of the Pacific war. Soon they will be combined to establish for once and all the indisputable supremacy in the air of the USA.

That this is inevitable I am convinced after knowing men like Capt. Alvin Mueller of Seguin, Tex., and Frank Kurtz, Los Angeles Olympic diving champ. Tall, raw-boned, sandy-haired and freckled, Capt. Mueller has already won the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Distinguished Service Cross for valorous action.

These decorations have not caught up with the captain yet. He has never been in one place long enough.

Only 10 minutes ago, characteristically humming one of his favorite cowboy songs, he hopped off on another mission.

I hope and pray he returns.

MANY GUARDIAN ANGELS

Within the week one air fighter pal of mine said good night after making a dinner date for the next night. Early next morning he went into a tailspin at 4000 feet. He didn't come out of it.

I ate no dinner that night.

As for Mueller—they have nicknamed him "Lucky." He must have a whole flock of guardian angels camping right along with him where ever he goes.

If I hadn't seen with my own eyes the plane in which he arrived safely from a recent mission I would never have believed such a thing possible. It had more holes in it that a hundred Swiss cheeses. There was scarcely a foot of it through which you couldn't see daylight.

Capt. Mueller climbed out of the heap of wreckage he had brought in to a beautiful three-point landing—and laughed.

A "BIT OF ACTION"

"How . . .? Where . . .? What . . .?" I questioned him in amazement when I managed to corner him later.

He shrugged and grinned, explaining that he and Capt. George Schatzel of California, out on a two-plane bombing mission on Jap shipping, had found "a bit of action."

"George and I found some Jap transports and destroyers anchored in a harbor at nightfall," he said. "We gave them a little surprise, setting four of them afire.

"After that we landed for refueling. At daybreak we discovered another concentration of Nip ships. This time we ran into trouble. Plenty of ack-ack all around. The Jap Zeros got after us, too.

"We got two of the ships and then scrammed with the Zeros right on our tails.

"George's plane was hit hard. One of his motors was crippled. I dropped back to cover him. By this time the sky was black with Zeros. I counted 17 of them nearby with others swarming up like hornets out of a nest.

NARROW ESCAPE

"We had climbed to 26,000 feet. We were getting along all right, blazing away at the Zeros, when the Skibbies managed to blow out my hydraulic system and shoot my supercharger away. The bomb bay was punctured and they blasted the fuel lines. I was carrying 400 gallons of gas. I still don't know how it kept from catching fire.

"Then the oxygen tank went!" he said quietly. "Well, you know what that means at 26,000 feet.

Joke! F. D. Style

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—President Roosevelt, with an amused twinkle in his eye, related to his press conference today how he told a charming lady who had supper at the White House recently how Gen. MacArthur left the Philippines.

The general, he said, left in a rowboat, disguised as a Filipino fisherman, passed directly by a lot of Japanese submarines and warships, and rowed 2500 miles to Australia.

And some people at the table, he thought, actually believed him.

The President chuckled when his press secretary, Stephen T. Early, remarked that he had shown the way in which a rubber factory operates.

GIRL WHO FOUND ESPIONAGE FUN GETS 5-YEAR SENTENCE

NEW YORK, March 20 (AP)—Lucy Boehmler, 19-year-old high school girl, who said she "found espionage lots of fun," was sentenced today to five years in Federal Women's Reformatory at Alderson, W. Va., by Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard.

Judge Goddard also sentenced Carl Herman Schroetter, 48-year-old skipper of a Miami, Fla., fishing boat, to 10 years.

Both pleaded guilty to participation in the espionage ring headed by Kurt Frederick Ludwig, master Nazi spy, who was sentenced to 20 years recently.

Six other members of the ring were sentenced last week to terms of 12 to 20 years each, including Mrs. Helen Pauline Mayer, 26-year-old housewife, who received 10 to 15 years.

In sentencing Miss Boehmler, Judge Goddard said she had cooperated with the government in testifying at the trial of Ludwig and his agents, but "it is desirable and necessary for you to be confined at least for the duration of this war for reasons that you can appreciate."

N. E. MILK PRICE CUT URGED AS DELIVERY SAVINGS MOUNT

Reduction in the retail price of milk for consumers co-operating in the every-other-day delivery system in operation in several sections of New England was proposed today by the New England Conference of State Agricultural Commissioners.

In a statement issued through the New England Council, the commissioners said a survey indicated that savings up to 50 per cent could be made in transportation of milk to country stations, and actual reduction of truck use in the home delivery of milk on an every-other-day basis has been from 30 to 40 per cent.

"We are going to recommend," the commissioners said, "that each state take decisive steps to place these obviously necessary savings on an industry-wide basis. We further recommend that the consumers who have shared in making these savings possible by accepting less frequent delivery of milk receive a proportionate reduction in the retail price of milk."

Commissioners attending the conference were Carl R. Smith, Maine; Andrew L. Felker, New Hampshire; E. H. Jones, Vermont; Mark H. Galusha, Massachusetts; Dr. Raymond G. Bressler, Rhode Island, and Elliott Platt, representing Olcott F. King, Connecticut.

ARMY TO ASK LAW TO RULE MEN 45-64

By JACK VINCENT

WASHINGTON, March 20 (INS)—Military authorities and war production officials, it was learned today, will ask Congress for revision of the draft act in order to make use of 11,800,000 men between 45 and 64, inclusive, who must register April 27.

Under the present law, it was pointed out, there is no authority to make use of the men, even for work in war industries.

"It is like having a wagon without a horse," said an Army official.

"Or, like having an automobile without tires," remarked a war production spokesman.

Under the draft, all from 18 to 64, inclusive, are liable to registration. Men from 20 to 44, inclusive, are liable for military service. But, other than carrying out the registration of the 18 and 19-year-olds and men from 45 to 64, the Army is powerless now to order them into the service or into factories.

NO LOTTERY PLANNED

Men from 20 to 44, some 26,000,000 liable to military service, already have registered. After the 45 to 64 group is signed up the 18 and 19-year-olds will remain as the only group not yet registered. About 1,200,000 in number, they are expected to be registered about April 29 or 30.

No plans are being made for a lottery for the older men, many of them grandfathers. Instead plans are being drawn to ask Congress for legislation to use the men in war industries or any other civilian post deemed necessary.

Such men will be hand-picked and there will be no necessity for a lottery, it was explained.

NEW POWER MAY BE ASKED

Government officials also may ask for power to blanket men into war production jobs to prevent men from shifting from one factory to another and interrupting production.

If the workers refuse to remain at the jobs assigned them, the government will enlist them into the Army and force them to stay on the job at Army pay starting at $21 a month, according to tentative drafts of proposed legislation.

Plans also are going forward to provide military training for the 18 and 19-year-olds, but there again it will require enabling legislation from Congress. Several plans are being discussed, including full-time training at regular camps and part-time training such as that given National Guard units in peacetime.

Officials point out many former Army officers in the 45 to 64 group could be "drafted" to drill the youths without taking officers out of the regular Army.

Vierick Testimony Gets Hill's Term Cut

WASHINGTON, March 20 (INS)—The two-year to six-year jail sentence of George Hill, convicted of perjury in connection with the recent Nazi propaganda investigation, was cut to from one to three years today by Justice E. Dickinson Letts.

Hill, former secretary to Rep. Hamilton Fish, (R.) of New York, was convicted of perjury before a federal grand jury. Referring to Hill's repudiation of his grand jury testimony during the subsequent trial of German Agent George Sylvester Viereck, Justice Letts said Hill had done all he could to "undo a wrong."

DAD AND SON SERVE UNDER 2 MacARTHURS

A spry 64-year-old Woburn veteran of the Philippine Insurrection who served with Gen. Arthur MacArthur, father of Douglas MacArthur, says:

"The Japs haven't a chance in Australia and our boys will hold Bataan, too."

Thomas H. Dunnigan of Hancock st., Woburn, bubbled over with confidence and enthusiasm today as a Boston American reporter questioned him about the activities of his 27-year-old son, Pvt. Lawrence Dunnigan, now with the American forces in Australia.

Lawrence Dunnigan

Thomas Dunnigan

"I'd give my right arm to be along with the boy.

"Douglas MacArthur is a true son of a great father. They don't come much better than the MacArthurs. I served with his father.

He spoke with great respect for the fighting abilities of the Igorots and Moros, adding:

He said his son was inducted in the Army last year with the Woburn National Guard unit.

WIFE, 46, SOBS CONFESSION IN TRUNK MURDER OF GIRL

ATLANTA, March 20 (AP)—A 46-year-old housewife sobbed out a confession to the slaying of a pretty shoestore salesgirl, to end the mystery of Atlanta's two-day-old trunk murder.

Detective Supt. J. A. McKibben said Mrs. Minnie Lee Griffin admitted the slaying of Mrs. Mildred Seymour Williams, 22, whose battered and trussed body was found late yesterday in an old automobile trunk in the basement of the Griffin home.

The middle-aged woman, left alone in her cell throughout the day, signed a confession to the gruesome crime, McKibben said, shortly after he started questioning her. She, with three men, including two of her sons, had been detained since shortly after the girl's body was found.

McKibben said Mrs. Griffin related that Mrs. Williams, a neighbor, came to her home about four months ago and told her she was sorry "about the misunderstanding about her going with Kenneth Hubert, my son-in-law."

McKibben further quoted her statement as saying:

"I asked her if she really had been going with him and that if she had she was breaking up my daughter's home.

"She jumped up, telling me that it was none of my business if she was going with him and that if I ever mentioned that to her again she would brain me.

"I grabbed the broom and hit her over the head.

"I followed her into the basement and picked up a heavy object and hit her on the head several times."

McKibben said Mrs. Griffin then said that she "lost her mind" and did not remember how many times she hit Mrs. Williams.

Governor to Fight Gas Rationing Plan

Leading the fight for a square deal for New England in the national oil and gasoline shortage, Gov. Saltonstall was due to confer with J. C. Rickdale, heda of the fuel oil division of the State Public Safety Committee on the latter's return here from Washington.

Richdale was sent to the national capital to deliver New England's objection to a rationing program which would be confined to this section and the Pacific northwest.

The governor also plans to confer with chief executives of the five other states to map further protests amplifying their stand of last Saturday.

"We believe rationing should be on a national basis, as it is the only equitable and effective way. No section should be penalized more than any other section in the national emergency," Gov. Saltonstall said, reiterating the combined stand of the New England governors.

LESS GAS, LESS RUBBER

Even as the governor began pressing the fight for nation-wide rationing, Petroleum Co-ordinator Harold L. Ickes in Washington admitted:

"There is something to be said for gasoline rationing on a nation-wide basis to conserve rubber."

But Ickes added that he saw no prospect of rationing in other areas in the near future.

Ickes said the card rationing system in New England and the north Pacific states would be started as soon as Price Administrator Leon Henderson "gets around to it."

The 20 per cent curtailment of stocks to dealers will remain in effect until the card rationing plan begins, and New England stations were rapidly falling in line with a plan for "blackouts" and gasless Sundays.

GAS STATION CO-OPERATE

More than 1000 filling stations in this State operated by 13 major petroleum companies have already begun the 7 p. m. to 7 a. m. closing, and it is expected they will be closed for the first time this coming Sunday.

Independent operators are expected to follow their lead in the next 48 hours, Frederick H. Moore, executive secretary of the Retail Gasoline Dealers Association, said.

Moore expects 95 per cent of the independents will accept the six-day week of 12 daylight hours. He warned that dealers not complying "would fall prey to chiseling motorists who will go shopping around for all the gasoline they can buy."

The new hours are "the only possible way the dealers will be able to carry on to take care of the consumer" Moore said.

Companies which ordered the curfew hours and Sunday closings were:

American Oil Co., Atlantic Refining Co., Cities Service Oil Co., Colonial Beacon Oil Co., Gulf Oil Corp., Jenney Mfg. Co., Lincoln Oil Co., Merit Oil Co., Richfield Oil Co., Shell Oil Co., Socony Vacuum Oil Co., Sun Oil Co., Texas Co. and the Tidewater Associated Oil Co.

Commenting on announcement of Harold Ickes that gasoline will be rationed on a card system as soon as the coupons can be printed, Moore declared the rationing will be approved by most New England motorists, "if not too severe."

"Dealers," he added, "will do all in their power to be fair in rationing to customers on the 20 per cent filling station basis that faces us.

"It is felt that the rationing will force all dealers to maintain the night and Sunday closing hours in order to supply their customers throughout the month."

Buck Crashes Party In Cocktail Lounge

GUTHRIE QUIZ ENDS, WIDER PROBE LOOMS

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—A congressional investigation of circumstances of the resignation of Robert R. Guthrie as head of the textile, clothing and leather goods section of the WPB seemed headed today toward extension into broader fields.

Chairman Faddis (D.) of Pennsylvania, of a House military subcommittee studying the Guthrie case, announced after Guthrie had finished testifying that he would hear testimony from industrial leaders and probably would call as witnesses many WPB officials, possibly including Donald M. Nelson, WPB director.

Guthrie, who concluded his second day of testimony with charges of failure to plan for supplies of textiles to meet the war emergency, told the committee "numerous substantial business men" had requested that they be allowed to testify in support of allegations he has made against WPB activities.

Guthrie told the subcommittee today he had no previous experience in textile manufacturing.

"I made no application for this job," he testified. "I was asked to do it."

CHURCHILL, CURTIN IN ROW OVER CASEY

CANBERRA, March 20 (INS)—The unprecedented appointment of Richard G. Casey to the British war cabinet came after a verbal battle via cable between Prime Minister Winston Churchill and John Curtin, Australia's prime minister, Curtin disclosed today.

In a "White Paper," which he will present to the Australian Parliament Wednesday, Curtin said Churchill had cabled him March 12, asking permission to name Casey minister of state in the Middle East on the war cabinet.

Curtain replied, requesting Churchill not to approach Casey, feeling Casey should remain in Washington as Australian minister to the United States, he said.

Churchill then sent Curtain a message saying he had talked with Casey during his visit in the United States and the envoy had told him he was anxious for a change, according to the White Paper.

After another exchange of cables, during which the two prime ministers maintained their original stands, Curtin said he told Churchill he believed the decision was not for either of them, but for Casey.

(The Melbourne Herald said public reaction to Casey's appointment was one of "surprise, shock and disappointment." "This is no case for ordinary expressions of polite acquiescence and regret," the paper said. "If it is not altogether too late the matter should be remedied. If Casey feels his services are not properly appreciated by Australia he should be reassured that his qualities demand his retention in Washington.")

Curtin earlier disclosed he had told Casey he hoped the envoy would remain in Washington. He added Casey did not intimate to him at any time that he desired a change. Casey telephoned him Monday, stating the Cairo offer was a complete surprise to him, Curtain said.

Japs Simplify Language

TOKYO (From Japanese Broadcasts), March 20 (AP)—The Japanese are preparing a simplified form of their highly complicated language in an effort to advance their "greater East Asia program."

Domei announced today a cabinet-sponsored meeting of scholars decided to choose 600 common ideographs or simple ideograph combinations "as an initial step toward unfolding Japanese culture and a general understanding of the language to East Asiatic races."

(Japanese, probably the most difficult language used by any major people, is written in ideographs borrowed from the Chinese supplemented by Japanese syllabic signs to indicate its highly complicated inflections. Although Japanese newspapers attempt to use as few ideographs as possible, a knowledge of some 2000 is necessary to read them easily.")

The meeting, in which army and navy officers took part, decided to issue a pamphlet entitled "Nihongo Hayawakari" (Japan-language - quick - understanding) containing the 600 words for immediate distribution throughout the south Pacific areas.

HERE LIES A SPOOK

Born March 3, 1942. Kicked the bucket a few days later. The beginning and end of the so-called "Victory Suit"!

Actually, it never existed at all. This scarecrow phantom was never anything more than a minor nightmare, dreamed up by someone in a moment of fumbling patriotism.

Oh! yes—you've squirmed through movie shots of funny looking men wearing coats that fit like sausage casings. You've read about trousers built to cover nothing heftier than a pipe stem. The radio has probably spoiled your dinner with ghost stories about skeletons stripped of all lapels. But have you actually seen these atrocities in circulation?

Of course not—and you're not going to, either! Take that on the word of Uncle Sam. Digest this, from the Government's Official Release—"the ordered style revisions will not materially change the appearance of a suit or overcoat from those now being worn. The only noticeable change in a suit will be the absence of trouser cuffs. In that respect, civilian trousers will merely follow the trend of military uniforms and formal dress trousers, which are cuffless".

Right now, the only suit worthy of the name "Victory" is that buckskin outfit worn by the Minute-Man on Defense Bond posters. Let's keep on loading his rifle 'til it gets red hot. That's where our dollars should go—instead of foolishly rushing to beat those cockeyed rumors about screwy styles.

So much then, for the not-lamented "Victory Suit". May it rest in peace!

BOND CLOTHES

American Fliers Winning Air Supremacy From Japs

You just can't live upstairs without oxygen.

"I went into a dive at 430 miles an hour.

"Now the Japs never dive straight down like we do. Their dive is more like a glide. That's how I got away.

"When I found my controls were still all right I cruised around looking for George. I couldn't find him. He had escaped in the clouds, but I didn't know that. I was in a sweat all the way back. But when I came in at the home port, there was George, safe and sound."

That is but one example of the inspiring devotion of officers and men in the Air Corps here. They willingly and deliberately go through hell for one another.

ON BORROWED TIME

Another airman who has been living on borrowed time is Lieut. George Murkovich, ace navigator on one of the big bombers. A California University graduate, Murkovich has been reported missing at least three times. He is the livest "corpse" you ever saw.

His "blow by blow" description of a high altitude tangle with a swarm of Jap Zero fighters is one of the most arresting air battle stories I have yet listened to.

"We were bombing the blazes out of Jap targets," he said, "when suddenly the air was full of Zeros. We battled them all over the sky. Our ship was riddled with bullets. I directed the fighting through the inner phones with the entire crew listening in."

The lieutenant's crew consisted of Sergt. Clyde Anderson of Riverside, Cal., Sergt. Schellito of Lockhardt, Texas., Sergt. Bill Weiss of Cicero, Ill., and Pvt. Ed Olsen, of Huntington Beach, Cal.

ONE BURST SUFFICES

This is the conversation over the ship phones, as reported by Murkovich:

Lieut.: "Give them hell, boys!"

Crew: "What do you think we're feeding them, ice cream and cake?"

Gunner: "There's one so-and-so that won't bother us again!"

The Jap Zeros, Murkovich said, are so light that one burst is usually enough to finish them for good.

"At one point in the battle," he continued, "I saw Olsen, the rear gunner topple over. I rushed back to him, but his scalp had only been grazed. He went right back to work.

"It was a great fight. I am confident we can trim them any time. My crew is the coolest and the best gunners in the world. I love them."

Kurtz told about the successful American air attack on the Philippine island of Mindanao, described as the most successful in the Pacific war.

SUNK JAP FLAGSHIP

"We flew over in a formation of fortresses after having received intelligence a heavy concentration of Jap warships were based at Davao," he said.

"That was a gross understatement—I have never seen so many warships anywhere.

"We had wonderful success and sunk their flagship. Never have we had such a successful run—It was minceemeat. We sank at least six ships, all either heavy cruisers or battleships, before we ran out of bombs.

"I am confident the whole fleet would have been sunk, if only we had enough planes and bombs. We raided the enemy under the heaviest kind of anti-aircraft fire, but we were determined to smash them this time."

Capt. Kurtz went to Manila in October and was at Clark Field, where the first Japanese bombing attacks destroyed Kurtz's flying fortress, and killed 12 of his highly specialized crew. Only Kurtz and his navigator, Eddie Oliver of Smithers, W. Va., escaped.

CO-PILOT KILLED

He was grim as he told of the death of his co-pilot, fun-loving "Tex" Gary of San Marcos, Texas.

"I was in the operations tent when the first Japanese formations appeared over the mountains," he said. "Tex and the gang were standing by the ship, preparing for a mission over Formosa (a Japanese island midway between the Philippines and Japan proper), when the first bombs hit."

(This is the first indication U. S. Air Corps planned to carry aerial war to the enemy in the early days of the Pacific conflict.)

"The co-pilot and crew ran toward the shelter. Later I picked them up where they had fallen. Tex and our mechanic, Sergt. Burgess, were leading the others toward safety when a bomb exploded in their path, killing all of them.

"Somehow I couldn't believe 'my boys' were dead. I just couldn't help talking to those bodies and telling them we who were left would get revenge a hundred times over.

"The following days were like nightmares. We were operating 24 hours a day on missions that at any other time would be called impossible.

"When bombing raids near Clark made operations untenable, we shifted at night to a new secret base. Even that was soon knocked out by the Japs and since we were anxious to keep our ships in the air—and fighting—we made a strategic withdrawal to Darwin for repairs and much needed rest."

Kurtz was a close friend of Capt. Colin P. Kelly and Capt. Sam Marett, and a score of other American heroes who have paid for their heroism with their lives.

WELL, ALLIES TOO ROUGH SO JAPS'LL RETALIATE

ENEMY REPORT

TOKYO (From Japanese Broadcasts), March 20 (AP)—The Japanese navy charged today that the United States and Britain, since the start of the war in the Pacific, had waged "extreme warfare based on retaliation and hatred" and declared that Japan would reciprocate.

Alleging that Japan's foes were employing tactics in disregard of international law, the navy promulgated an ordinance "revising" its warfare regulations which it said were based on the London declaration of 1909 and precedents of international law.

The precise nature of the revision as well as the specific charges against the United States and Britain were not given.

Navy Minister Admiral Shigetato Shimada announced the decision to the government while the government took action to notify Japan's foes through neutral powers of the decision.

Prof Shigeharu Enomoto of the Naval Academy, "explaining" the new ordinance, said the imperial navy desired to act justly under international law, but that war is by nature "reciprocal" and, therefore, he said, there is no reason for Japan to adhere to warfare regulations when her enemies disregard them.

3 Slayings Confessed By Organist

LOS ANGELES, March 20 (AP) — Courtney Fred Rogers, 24 year old church organist told officers today he killed his aged grandmother, Mrs. Sophie Spiegelmann as well as his parents.

Rogers was charged with murder after he told just two weeks ago, that he chloroformed his mother, Mrs Lilah Rogers, 44, on Feb. 14, 1941 and caused the death of his father Courtney C. Rogers, 50, last Oct. 25, by firing their home. Both deaths originally were recorded as suicides. Death of Mrs. Spiegelmann, 76, had been attributed to food poisoning.

Deputy Sheriff Larry Carmack told Rogers he had obtained a court order to exhume Mrs. Spiegelmann's body at San Diego.

"We can go through with this, and will find out just why she died," Carmack said. "What do you think we will find?"

"Yes, I did kill grandma," Carmack quoted Rogers. "I poisoned her."

SUB HERO'S WIFE SURE HE STILL LIVES

With calm courage and unshakable confidence in her husband's ability, Mrs Marjorie Rowell Shane today refused to accept the Navy Department's assumption that Lt.-Comdr. Louis Shane, Jr., and all his crew have perished in Far Eastern waters with their submarine Shark.

During a visit to her mother-in-law's home in Talbot rd., Braintree, Mrs. Shane, mother of three children, insisted she would never give up hope until she receives positive proof of her husband's death.

The Shark, a 1315-ton submersible, is long overdue after extensive raiding operations against the Japanese and "must be presumed lost," the Navy has announced.

"I don't think he's dead. I haven't given up hope," she said in an interview.

"He is an expert on submarines, having been on them since 1930. He always had good judgment. He is very resourceful and could always make quick decisions in a crisis.

"There are so many islands there where he might be beached or pulled in for refuge. I'll have to have proof of his death before I abandon hope."

She was married to Lt. Comdr. Shane in June of 1926 on the day he was graduated from Annapolis and for the past two years has been living in Winthrop, Me., at the home of her parents with her children, Janet, 10, Louis, Jr., 7, and John, 5.

Her mother-in-law is the widow of Capt. Louis Shane, retired, of the Navy, who died last December.

Army in Hawaii Bans Profiteer

HONOLULU, March 20 (AP)—The military government of Hawaii took further steps today to prevent profiteering in foodstuffs by setting maximum retail prices for fruit and produce.

It was announced that prices would be set on a monthly basis on averages of the past year and that "no matter how large or small amount arrives on the market the price will remain the same."

Two persons already have been fined for profiteering in foodstuffs.

The prices set included 20 cents a pound for asparagus; six cents a pound for bananas; broccoli 15 cents a pound; cucumbers, 12 cents a pound, and Irish potatoes, five cents a pound.

A recent order set the maximum price of butter at 56 cents a pound, 50 cents a dozen for medium mainland eggs, and 85 cents a dozen for island eggs.

Gen Ironside Says:

Choice of M'Arthur Proves Allied Unity

By FIELD MARSHAL LORD IRONSIDE
(Written Especially for International News Service)

LONDON, March 20 (INS)—The situation in the Pacific is beginning to clear. The two great bases from which we must strike at the Japanese forces are now under the military command of two generals who have shown the finest mettle of any in this war — Douglas MacArthur and Archibald P. Wavell.

No more suitable appointment than that of Gen. MacArthur could have been made. It was asked for by the Australian government and is thus indicative of the lack of any petty jealousies in the inter-Allied command between two great Anglo-Saxon races.

Solidarity is marked not only by the arrival of United States forces in Australia, but also in India, the Middle East, and in northern Ireland.

NEW U. S. FORCES

In Australia the gallant attack by combined naval forces in Java where Dutch, British, American and Australian ships went down, their colors flying, after inflicting heavy damage on enemy ships, has been followed by brilliant successes.

Australian and American aircraft have annihilated Japanese invasion convoys off New Guinea. Thirty-three ships, including 12 warships, have been put out of action, with the loss of but a single United Nations plane.

New American forces, both land and air, are now moving to take their battle stations in northern Australia. New Zealand is being similarly reinforced.

DECLARE LOYALTY

Where will the Japanese now try to direct their main invasion blow?

They must go on despite the burden of their ever-lengthening communications or they will not be able to play their full part in Adolf Hitler's spring offensive.

Results of the mission of Sir Stafford Cripps in India are being anxiously awaited. It is not beyond the genius of the British nations to find a solution to all religious and political differences which beset the status of India.

With the enemy at the gates, the leaders in British India and the Indian princes have already declared their complete loyalty.

While India seems to afford the most advantageous target for attack, since it brings the Japanese ever closer to their allies, the Nazis, it is essential for them to prevent the establishment of a great American army in Australia.

We may, therefore, expect the Japanese to extend themselves to their utmost in their assault against our two great bases.

A flood of rumors have been released from Berlin. One of the most persistent is that poison gas will now be used. This, however, cannot be used effectively until the cold weather is over. This may be another reason why the promised offensive may be delayed until the end of April.

MEXICO ENVOY DUE IN U. S.

MEXICO CITY, March 20 (INS)—The coming visit of Mexico's foreign minister, Dr. G. C. Padilla, to Washington will be to work out mutual problems facing the two nations in matters of defense, it was learned today.

CRISIS NEAR FOR HITLER AS REDS PUSH FORWARD

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst

This fateful spring which is bringing to bring our anxieties world a height of death and destruction in place of its world gift of new life and sunshine finds the warring forces of Europe at the crossroads one of which leads to victory and the other to defeat.

The crafty Hitler recognizes this and we get a fair indication of the [illegible] he is making to meet the crisis. His actions are diverse, but they dovetail to show his problems.

For one thing, we find the Nazi chief calling back virtually all those members of his general staff who either quit or were fired when they disagreed with his decision to launch an offensive against Moscow just as the ice in the Russian south was about to break. The Fuehrer is slow to forgive and the fact that he now has summoned his captains again means that he is faced with a military [illegible] which calls for his capabilities [illegible]

This is understandable, for no matter what offensive operations he may have in mind he still must solve the greatest defensive problem of his era. He must defeat the Russian giant which gains strength from active site, like the wrestler Antaeus who became stronger every time he was thrown and touched his mother earth.

Coincidently, German war production is being spurred almost to the breaking point. Civilian consumption has been further curtailed and all manufacture is directed to the one end to meet the crisis of the battle-field.

Along with this, Reichsmarshal Herman Goering has appealed to farmers to concentrate as never before on food production. At the same time it's announced that food rations are to be reduced in the Reich on April 4.

These facts lead us straight to a thought which this column has emphasized often—that Hitler's sources of supply are tightening up on him. Again we can say that his highway to victory must lead to a breakthrough to fresh stores. They lie as you know, in the Caucasus and the Middle East.

We can go even further, for the Nazi leader's preparations clearly provide for the possibility that he may fail. Hence the rush to grow foodstuffs at home, and the conservation of both food and goods.

In other words, the Fuehrer no longer is sure of what lies in store for him. He isn't the arrogant All Highest whom I saw stand before 12,000 people in the Great Sports Palace in Berlin just before the Munich crisis and tell the world that if Czecho-Slovakia didn't give him what he wanted he would go and take it. In those days he could take what he wanted; now he's not so sure about it.

The immediate reason of his uncertainty, of course, is the Red army. That stands between him and his supplies which are essential for victory. It may do more than that, for it's possible it will press him so hard this spring and summer that he will be on the defensive from the Baltic to the Black sea. And back of this Red menace rumbles the increasing avalanche of American and British war production.

What is the Allies' road to victory? Obviously they must at all costs keep Hitler from reaching those fresh supplies until they have had time to equip themselves for a grand offensive. Thus in no small part the battle must be fought in the arsenals of America, and on the high seas over which the Allies war equipment must be transported.

If the United Nations can block the German drive they will be on the road to victory, for Hitler's needs are pressing—he cannot wait indefinitely. But blocking doesn't necessarily mean purely defensive activity. It calls for counterattack all along the line, such as the Bolshevists have been making. And the initiative needn't be wholly on the vital Russian front.

MacArthur Pledges Defeat of Japanese

drome with machine-gun and cannon fire, the second by a lone bomber which let loose one stick of bombs.

From Melbourne came the encouraging news that the United Nations forces already manning battle stations have been reinforced by new detachments of U. S. airmen who escaped from Java and by British and Australians who arrived from Singapore.

Authorities predicted that the fighting might develop as in the early days of the Malayan campaign when the Australian imperial force ambushed, sniped and delayed the enemy drive.

ATTACK ON DARWIN

Extensive Japanese activity in the vicinity of Salamaua and Lae was announced today in a communique issued by Curtain.

The bulletin also announced widespread operations by Jananese aircraft yesterday, which included two appearances over Port Moresby and further attacks on the Solomon Islands and Darwin, on the northwest coast of Australia.

Two persons were killed and seven or eight wounded in the Darwin raid, the communique said.

There were no casualties and no substantial damage on the Solomon Islands Curtin said.

Mention of Japanese activity at Salamaua and Lae, some 150 miles north of Port Moresby apparently referred to ground operations by the invaders, who landed at both places March 8, but indicated there had been no fighting.

"Japanese activity in the Salamaua and Lae area is extensive, but no clash has been reported," the communique said.

JAP AIR RAID BLOCKED

The announcement followed unofficial reports that a considerable force of Japanese was moving inland along the Markham river, but had not yet been contacted by the Australian troops.

In the first of their two appearances over Port Moresby yesterday Jap planes swept across the bay four times, but were kept at an altitude of 20,000 to 23,000 feet by heavy anti-aircraft fire which drove back up the formation, the official bulletin said.

One of the enemy bombers was hit and apparently failed to reach its base, the communique added. The planes were reported to have caused no casualties or serious damage.

Seven Japanese planes used hit-run tactics in the Darwin raid. Flying at 15,000 feet, they dropped 40 to 50 bombs and headed straight out to sea to escape fighters which flew in to intercept them.

JAPS' BOMBS HOLD JUNK

Most of the bombs in this fifth attack on Darwin were so-called "grasscutters," containing bits of bottlecaps, razor blades and other sharp metal fragments.

Australian planes were reported to have carried out extensive reconnaissance over New Guinea.

Army Minister Francis Forde meanwhile, inaugurated a series of conferences with high ranking Australian and United States Army officers expected to result in designation of an Allied war council which will assume basic control of all military operations.

It was understood the council would be composed of Gen. MacArthur, Lieut. Gen. George H. Brett, commander of Allied air forces in Australia and New Zealand; Vice Admiral Herbert F. Leary, commander of the Allied naval forces in this area, and the chiefs of the Australian forces.

AMERICANS IN COMMAND

Brett arrived by plane this morning and talked with Curtin and Air Minister A. S. Drakeford for an hour before flying back to headquarters.

The Australian Army command will surrender many of its more important functions under the new set-up and will become largely an administrative organization, it was said.

Full details, however, probably will not be worked out until the new Australian commander is appointed.

Simultaneously with the military reorganization here it was believed that announcements would be made in London and Washington regarding the future of the Pacific war council, which now meets in London. Hope was expressed in some quarters here that Washington might be designated as the new meeting place and that Australia would be given direct representation.

AXIS ALLIES FACE WAR IN LAND ROW

OFFICIAL NEWS

LONDON, March 20 (INS) — A "war within a war" is threatened in Rumania and Hungary because of the bitter dispute between the two Axis-allied countries over Transylvania, the London Daily Express said today.

The Express said several months of tension on both sides had been broken in a radio speech by Rumanian Premier Gen. Ion Antonescu, who served notice that his nation was determined to regain Transylvania and would fight, if necessary, to achieve that objective.

Other advices reaching London told of a radio speech Gen. Antonescu was reported to have made before a Rumanian university faculty in which he was quoted as saying:

"No one knows better than a soldier that honor and right cannot be defended by words alone. The whole world must know that the Rumanians can hate as well as love."

Antonescu was said to have declared that the Hungarian press had insulted the Rumanian army "by words and deeds in a manner that Rumanian dignity cannot overlook." The Rumanian claim to Transylvania was justified, he said, because that area was "ethnically Rumanian."

Hungarian sources were said to have denied that they had insulted Rumania and to have expressed confidence that they would receive help from Bulgaria in the event of war with Rumania.

RFC Buys Nelson A Plane to Speed Trips About Country

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP) —The RFC has bought Donald Nelson, war production chief, an airplane to expedite his travels about the country, it was learned today.

Since the War Production Board had no funds to make such a purchase, RFC holds title to it and is renting it to WPB. The pilot is a WPB employe.

Use of the plane has been extended to all WPB officials required to make quick trips.

U. S. Ugly Duckling Ship Lands Munitions in Egypt

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, March 18 (Delayed) (AP)—An American-built "Ugly Duckling" freighter flying the Stars and Stripes has braved the challenge of Nazi bombers and submarines by sailing through the eastern Mediterranean.

It has steamed into Alexandria, bringing war materials to reinforce Britain's North Africa armies.

The ship—the first of her class to be commissioned under the United States emergency wartime building program—brought a note of cheer to British forces in Egypt, which have scarcely seen an American flag in Egypt since the beginning of the war.

BUILT IN BALTIMORE

The vessel, under command of Capt. Richard Ellis, a tall Louisianan, immediately began discharging her 10,000-ton cargo which made the British almost pop-eyed with delight.

The nature of the cargo cannot, of course, be disclosed.

It can be revealed, however, that the ship, which was built in Baltimore and took on her cargo there, traveled around the southern tip of South Africa, through the Red Sea and the Suez into the Mediterranean.

Not an enemy submarine or plane was sighted during the entire voyage.

CARRIES GUN CREW

She carried a naval gun crew.

The ship had a whole string of "firsts" to her credit:

She was the first begun and the first finished in the Baltimore yard, she was the first "Ugly Duckling" to pass through the Suez, and the first to reach Alexandria.

The British noted three Filipinos among the pantry help and immediately asked the captain:

"Have you Japanese aboard?"

The captain replied grimly:

"If there were, these Filipinos would kill them in a hurry."

Despite the epithet "Ugly Duckling" affixed to ships of this class, the British thought the new arrival was really a splendid ship and a harbinger of better times to come.

Bull, Noted British War Artist, Dies

LONDON, March 20 (AP)—Rene Bull, noted war artist who portrayed battles of three campaigns in as many continents within 10 months around the turn of the century, died today at his home in Blackwater.

Bull accompanied British forces to fullfill assignments in the Sudan and India, and was captured by the Turks while "covering" the Turkish-Greek war. He served during the first World War with the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve and the Royal Air Force and entered the Air Ministry Service for technical duties in 1940.

Japs Claim 6 U. S. Ships Lost

BERLIN (from German broadcasts) March 20 (AP)—Domei dispatches from the Philippines said today that a 1160-ton United States steamer was captured and a 3600-ton transport ship and four other "enemy vessels" ranging from 500 to 1000 tons were sunk from March 4 to 6 by Japanese naval forces in central and southern Philippine waters.

(The ships were not identified further. There has been no indication from any official sources that United States transports or steamers were operating in Philippine waters as recently as this month.)

New Zealand 'Great,' Son Writes Roxbury Parents

"Keep your chin up, mom."

That cheering message was sent to Mrs. Ernest W. Dullea of 299 Eustis st., Roxbury, today by her 25-year-old son, Frank, now on duty in far-off New Zealand.

His short note told of his safe arrival in the land "down under," which he described as "great country." He put a tantalizing question mark after "next stop."

Frank is one of two sons of former Representative and Mrs. Dullea now with the colors. Corp. Ernest W. Jr., is studying motor maintenance at a southern station. Both attended Roxbury Memorial High School and entered the Army when their National Guard unit was inducted last year.

The boys' father is former state representative from the Roxbury district and is chairman of the draft advisory board in that section.

Five sisters also await further news of their soldier-brothers. They are Margaret, 13, Katharine, 15, Helen, 20, Mrs. Virginia Crocker of Savin Hill ave., Dorchester, and Mrs. Dorothy Roderick of Nye ave., Brockton.

Madigan Replaces Peterson in FBI

John T. Madigan, 33, Fordham Law School graduate, was in Boston today to take over the direction of the local office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

"If I can continue Pete's good work I'll be satisfied," he said, referring to Virgil W. Peterson, whose resignation as agent in charge of this area becomes effective tomorrow.

Madigan has been with the FBI for six years and comes here from the New Haven office, where he has been in charge.

Hot Chop Suey Thrown at Her Wins Divorce

Helen Rita Killie, Howard st., Cambridge, was granted a divorce today in Middlesex probate court from Paul N. Killie of Cambridge, after testifying her husband once served her with hot chop suey—a whole quart of it al lover her face.

Charging cruel and abusive treatment Mrs. Killie said she left her husband Thanksgiving Eve, 1940, after he had come home drunk and had become angry over the supper she prepared.

She testified he picked up the supper, threw it on the floor and then beat her.

The wife testified she locked herself in the bathroom and after he had fallen asleep, she took the two children and left.

The chop suey incident occurred, she said, at another supper time.

Her bus had been late and she had arrived home after Killie. He had brought home a quart of chop suey, and as she was explaining her tardiness, she said, he heaved the whole hot quart at her.

The chop suey splashed against her face and ran down on her clothing.

Only 100 P. C. Police Cars to Get Tires

Only those police cars used exclusively in enforcing the law will be eligible for new tires from now on, according to Rationing Administrator Henry Parkman, Jr., whose ruling may force district attorneys and certain police officials to walk or take street cars in the future.

Heretofore, some leeway has been provided by requiring simply that police vehicles be used "principally" for law enforcement purposes. Now, however, a car becomes ineligible if it is used for any reason other than actual detection or prevention of crime.

Quincy Thief Takes Jewels

Several thousand dollars' worth of jewelry was stolen from two homes in apartment blocks in Kemper st., Quincy, today by a thief who forced entry while the occupants were absent and leisurely removed all valuables.

Victims were Mr. and Mrs. Curtis F. Wing and, in another apartment across the street, Mr. and Mrs. William T. Cuff.

Police believe both thefts were committed by one man who forced the front doors with an iron bar then took the jewelry, searching each apartment without disturbing clothing or other articles. Police were unable to estimate the exact value of the loot.

MARCH 31 BLACKOUT TO WEIGH FLAWS

Greater Boston's blackout on March 31 will be a fault-finding test for the purpose of observing and correcting any flaws in the present civilian defense protection plan.

Director J. Wells Farley of the Committee on Public Safety, declared today the test will be realistic in that the exact time will not be announced.

He pointed out that in this way it will be possible to find out the exact time required to mobilize the 200,000 civilian defense workers in the area. Also it will enable officials to check the period necessary for the extinguishing of all lights under conditions similar to those of a real air raid.

Important changes in the regulations governing traffic during the test were announced by Ralph Bradley, chief of the protection division for Greater Boston.

Bradley announced that vehicular traffic and street cars will be allowed to proceed with lights on even after all the street lights have been extinguished. They will however, be brought to a complete standstill when sirens sound the alarm for a "raid."

It was explained that the committee hopes in this way to have time, between the sounding of the two alarms to straighten out traffic jams. If traffic were brought to a standstill on the signal for blackout the jams would be "frozen" until the all clear sounded.

On the first warning, which is expected to be given at approximately 8:30 p. m., all wardens and auxiliary services will report to their A. R. P. centers and services.

On the second warning, the time of which will not beb announced in advance, all street lights will be blacked out. Traffic will be allowed to continue at the discretion of local authorities.

The third warning, also at an unannounced time, will be the first public warning and will be issued by the wailing of sirens. At this signal all traffic will be halted and complete blackout will be in order.

As in the last test plants in the area engaged in defense work will not be required to participate if their blackout preparations have not been completed.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN
International News Service Staff Writer

Exclusive — "Inside Kiernan" has solved the mystery of who threw the overalls in Mrs Murphy's chowder.

It was the fiend who rubbed out Cock Robin.

We have only two cases remaining on our books.

(1) Who threw the paving blocks into Ed Flynn's courtyard?

(2) Who threw the ping-pong division of the war into Paul McNutt's courtyard?

So far we have established beyond reasonable doubt that (1) Ed Flynn, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, has a courtyard and (2) there are paving blocks in it.

The rest of the trail is blotched up with the hoof prints of professional and semi-catch-can posses.

But it is a clearer road than case X which we have ticketed under McNutt et al., et cetera and et tu, Brute?

Mr. McNutt's department obviously has become the district 50 of the federal government.

Thought for the day: Have you a little courtyard?

SAILORS love opera . . . This fact may be as big a surprise to you as it was to us when we looked over the swanky audience at the opening of the Boston opera season last evening . . . and discovered that scattered about among the fashionable first nighters, resplendent in lovely gowns, jewels and furs, were scads of sailors in the old familiar navy blue suits and middy blouses . . .

There was a liberal inter-sprinkling of Army and Navy officers too.

You would expect that—but to see a couple of hundred sailors at a ritzy opera opening was certainly unexpected . . . and the biggest surprise of all is that they seemed very much interested in the performance of "Lohengrin" and applauded enthusiastically . . . They were guests of the Opera Ass'n and enjoyed the luxury of $6.60 orchestra seats left vacant by guarantors who are out of town.

The Metropolitan Theater boasts fewer boxes than the Opera House thus limiting the number of box holders to a lucky few who have to make their reservations far, far in advance . . . H. Wendell Endicott, president of the Boston Opera Ass'n, who made front page news the other day by donating his 50-room Dedham mansion to the town fathers to be used as an emergency hospital, leaned over the rail of his box to see that everything was going smoothly . . . Sitting with him was beautiful Mrs. Lauritz Melchior, wife of the opera public's favorite tenor, Mr. Melchior who sang the role of Lohengrin . . . Petite and winsome, Mrs. Melchior wore a novel gown of blue and pastel plaid gingham with a deep yoke and scarf of matching blue fishnet.

Mrs. Hugh Bancroft occupied a box with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Cox, the latter of whom was resplendent in a white gown liberally sprinkled with brilliants and a corsage of deep purple orchids . . .

• • •

A diamond necklace added considerable brilliance to Mrs. Nat Simpkins' black net gown, the full skirt of which was appliqued with lime green flowers . . . Her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Nat Simpkins, 3d, accented her blonde hair with a gown of flame crepe studded with gold and then North Shore neighbors, the Charles Wares, stopped to chat with them between sips of refreshment at the champagne bar.

• • •

DIANA BIRD'S square cut sapphire earrings shone above an off-the-shoulder gown of matching sapphire velvet as she chatted between the acts with blonde Leslie Lindsey . . . Martha Leonard and Patricia Converse, who made their debuts together last fall, sat in different corners of the house but had a rendezvous at the foot of the red carpeted staircase between each act . . .

DEBUTANTES Patricia Converse, left, and Martha Leonard were among the fashionable younger opera fans at the opening of the Metropolitan Opera's Boston engagement last evening. Pat is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Parker Converse of Brookline, and Martha the daughter of Mrs. Thomas Slade of Boston.

BUY A MASSACHUSETTS BOMBER editor (3 Winthrop sq., Boston):

"The response of the children has been instantaneous and gratifying. During November, December and January 2113 children invested $25,972.17 and indications are that the amount for March will be in the vicinity of $10,000.

"The interest in this campaign seems to be GROWING rather than diminishing. Posters, advertising materials and plays are used to keep the matter fresh in the minds of the children. It is probable the amount invested during the year will exceed $125,000.

"No child was asked to purchase STAMPS and BONDS under the plan organized with the advice of A. George Gilman, Malden general campaign chairman. The necessity and advantage of purchasing them was discussed at length in every schoolroom in the city."

SEE SIZE OF TASK

Not only are they BUYING BONDS and STAMPS for MASSACHUSETTS BOMBERS, they are doing much more. At Lincoln Junior High School, according to Principal J. J. Cronin, the youngsters have contributed their time and skill without restraint for their country.

Consider the following:

They collected 25,260 pounds of newspapers and realized $126.30 for America's war effort;

They purchased $6224.95 in BONDS and STAMPS;

They made 100 night-sticks for Malden's Auxiliary Police Department;

They completed 408 garments for the Red Cross.

Remember, anything from a dime to $5000 is the range given you in your purchases of STAMPS and BONDS.

MacArthur's Fighting Buddies Overseas Picture Book

WITH THE NEXT

SUNDAY ADVERTISER

OUR DAILY CITATION: To the City of Boston for its enthusiastic acceptance of President Roosevelt's suggestion that municipalities sponsor patriotic celebrations to stimulate public morale. Boston set a worthy example for the country's other cities to follow Wednesday, when it hailed the magnificent victory of the United Nations air forces over the Japanese fleet with the blowing of sirens and the ringing of bells.

THE REMOVAL of General MacArthur and his staff from the Philippines puts an entirely new aspect on American participation in the war.

It is easily the most dramatic incident of the war since American entry.

It is possibly the most significant incident.

The official explanation is that General MacArthur has been transferred to Australia to be supreme commander of the United Nations forces in that area, which suggests imminent change in the character of the war.

General MacArthur is the outstanding military commander, not only in the American forces but in all the forces in the far Pacific, including the Japanese.

He has been successful while all other Allied commanders have been consistently and conspicuously unsuccessful.

He has inspired confidence in his own men, and respect among his enemies.

He is unquestionably qualified for bigger and in fact the very biggest tasks in this war, and of course should be made available for them.

Since the defense of Australia is the very biggest immediate task of the war, General MacArthur's place is properly there, and his dramatic and hazardous transfer to that vital position attests a new awareness of conditions and alertness to opportunity on the part of his superiors.

And since the defense of Australia is largely an American task, and large elements of American personnel and increasing quantities of American equipment are being concentrated in Australia, the provision for an American command is proper.

GENERAL MacARTHUR may be expected to make the very most of his facilities for defending Australia.

He must not be expected, or compelled, to do too much with too little.

True, he has conducted a seemingly miraculous defense in the Philippines with inadequate facilities against almost hopeless odds.

But let us hope his assignment in Australia is not to be another pitting of inadequate forces against a superior enemy, in expectation of more miracles.

If Australia is merely to be defended, as Malaya and Java were defended before it, until such time as the Japanese are able and willing to pay the price to take it, it would be a waste of even General MacArthur's great talents.

In that event, he would be better left in the Philippines where skill and tenacity have been productive of more results than mere delaying action.

General MacArthur is a good enough commander to save Australia, and to turn from purely defensive action to counter-attack and then to an offensive—which is the program desired, as Australian spokesmen have said.

But he cannot do this in Australia with inadequate forces, planes, ships and guns, any more than he could do it in the Philippines.

It is not another holding action like that in Bataan, which the American people and their Allies hope for in Australia.

IT IS A TURNING POINT in the war, in our favor, and toward victory and peace which is our purpose, and of which we see the promise in General MacArthur's assumption of command.

The military production for which the American people have made great sacrifices must be sufficient for the purpose, without obstruction by strikes and restricted work-weeks and preferred political consideration for privileged groups.

The sea lanes to Australia must be kept open by concentration of our Navy in the Pacific war, which is our war and our responsibility.

With these essential things to command and utilize, General MacArthur may be depended upon to fix the point of the farthest advance of the Japanese in Australia, and to turn the invaders back at last upon the long road home.

It is not General MacArthur who is on the spot and must make good, but the American people and the American Government which must make good behind him.

HARVARD'S SONS are ready to take up farming this Summer. At least, that is what they say.

Already, Mr. Andrew E. Rice, Junior class member, is recruiting a volunteer land corps to work on farms in New Hampshire and Vermont for $21 a month. Undoubtedly, the boys are sincere, but do they really know what they are doing?

Farm work is not a take-it or leave-it occupation, nor is it a two-month activity. Seeds are planted in the early Spring, and crops are harvested in the late Fall. That is when the real labor is required.

During those months, according to the Harvard calendar, the farm volunteers will be attending classes.

I always write it Los Angeles, Cal., because there is also a town named Los Angeles in Texas . . . The record shows that most of the working girls who marry rich men are brunettes . . . There are 42,837 barber shops in this country that show a profit of less than $1000 a year. An enterprising barber should advertise: he should do everything possible to get men interested in improving their appearance, and he should have combination prices: i. e., a flat price for a haircut, shine and manicure or for a haircut, shine and shampoo and so on.

PLEASE NOTE: A business man of Seattle, Wash., says the people of that defense industry boom city have so much money they don't know where to spend it. That might be a good place for me to open my hamburger paradise eatery . . . A Californian was given two traffic tickets for speeding within a period of 25 minutes. A good penalty for speeders at this time would be to take their automobiles away from them for a period. Would help the gasoline situation . . . She measures 5 feet 8 inches; if she were two inches taller she could be called a tall girl. Helen's hobby is boxing. She says the handsomest heavyweight, judging by the photographs, was Jim Corbet. And after him Gene Tunney. However, she says, though good-looking, Mr. Tunney lacks feminine appeal. The fighter who had the most appeal to the ladies, says Helen, was Georges Carpentier . . . Betty Hicks Newell. Golfer. She won the national woman's amateur championship, but still can't beat her husband at golf. Her friends say Betty could beat her husband if she wanted to, but doesn't because she likes to feel he is her superior in every way.

SAYS SHE: "I go to all the dances given by soldiers I can. I make it a point never to refuse a date with a soldier. I feel it is my duty to help entertain the men who are fighting for us," writes a Chicago girl. "But it would be less of a duty and more of a pleasure if the average soldier knew something about making love. Now when you go out with a Marine it is different. They know what the world is all about."

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q. So you worked on a farm? Did you learn anything? What is the way to make a cow produce more and better milk? A. I didn't learn much on the farm, sir. But if you feed your cows some orange marmalade they will give more and better milk. Q. How long would it take a bomber to fly from Seattle, Wash., to Tokyo, Japan? A. About 14 hours. Q. Shakespeare's advice on how to impress a woman to the point of winning her affection is quite interesting. But have you something in the way of similar advice, from a woman writer in your Horses and Women Research Files? A. Marie Corelli said: "In affairs of love, a woman is perhaps most easily ensnared by a man who can combine passion with pleasantry and hot pursuit with social tact and diplomacy" . . . Q. Name the three greatest baseball pitchers of all time. A. Christy Mathewson, Cy Young and Grover Cleveland Alexander.

SIDELIGHTS: Several students of matrimony continue to state one of major causes of married unhappiness is a widowed mother-in-law . . . "Please quote words of the song 'Whiskey Killed My Sister Sue,'" writes a Milwaukee subscriber. We regret, sir, we are not familiar with this evidently touching ballad . . . More first children are boys than girls. That is because in the first year of married life most women are deeply in love with their husbands. And as heretofore stated the more a wife loves her husband the more her children are likely to be boys.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: "When my grandfather was 18 years old a doctor told him that by eating too much for breakfast he was just digging his grave with his teeth," writes a New Englander. "Now my grandfather is 97 years old and for over 80 years has every morning had for breakfast oatmeal, pork chops, fried potatoes, hot cakes and apple pie" . . . Personnel expert says blue-eyed girls make the best saleswomen; brown-eyed girls the worst. The brown-eyed girls spend too much time dreaming about marrying a millionaire or becoming a movie star.

BRIEFLY: Boston has the only statue in this country erected in honor of Army nurses . . . Next year will be the 60th anniversary of the opening of the Brooklyn bridge. Though nearing 60, the old bridge is still carrying more than its share of the traffic . . . On her golden wedding anniversary a wife was heard to observe to a younger married woman: "You can lay your head on the same pillow with a man for 50 years and never really know what he is thinking about." Which recalls what Mme. Du Deffaud said: "For life to be at all bearable for a woman, she must take things as they come, and men as they are."

Masked Jury

Should Man Wed Girl He Picked Up?

FIANCE CAN'T TELL

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN OF THE JURY: I would like the Masked Jury to help me with my problems. I have fallen hard for a girl and the way I feel about her I would like to marry her, except for one doubt.

I didn't meet this girl in the way a fellow likes to meet the girl he will ask to be his wife. To be brief, I picked her up on the street. That was four months ago. We were both coming out of a movie and somehow we looked at each other. She sort of smiled and I started talking to her and she didn't seem to mind.

At first I didn't expect it to be serious. I figured she was only one more girl. Then we started going out together and the next thing I knew I was talking about love. I don't like to be a bad sport but I hope you can understand how some men feel about these things. Or am I old-fashioned?

When I asked her about it she said she had never picked anybody up before and only did it for fun because she knew I would be all right. I don't know whether she is telling the truth or not.

Do you think a fellow ought to marry a girl he picked up?

HOW JURY VOTED
Women: Yes, five; No, three.
Men: Yes, three; No, three.

FACTORY WORKER (woman): Yes. He ought to be able to tell by now if she is a nice girl. That's the only way some girls can meet anybody.

MEDICAL STUDENT: Yes, if he likes the girl enough. I've been introduced to some terrible people and picked up some nice ones.

STENOGRAPHER: Yes, under certain circumstances. There's a big difference in what kind of a pick-up it is and how it was done.

BANK CLERK: No. He has a right to be suspicious. You don't marry girls you find on the street.

HOUSEWIFE: No. Nice girls don't pick up men. They don't have to.

MARINE: Yes. It's surprising to me how formal some people get all at once.

MAGAZINE WRITER (woman): Yes, by all means. I don't say that's the only way one should meet young ladies, but since it happened that way I think he is being a little stuffy now.

BOOK DEALER: Yes. I always thought that was the most interesting way to begin a romance—two people out of 130,000,000 finding themselves without benefit of friendly interjection.

SALESGIRL: Yes. In these days a girl can do that without feeling cheap, but I don't think it's a smart thing for a girl to do.

CITY DETECTIVE: No. You never know who you're picking up. It's led to a lot of tragedy for a lot of people, even though this case may be different.

OFFICE WORKER (woman): Yes. I don't see why he should hold that against her after all these months. Maybe she is telling the truth.

TYPIST (man): No, not unless he is very sure of her. That's all right for fun but not for marriage.

TALLULAH PLEASES INTERVIEWER

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, March 20—Tallulah Bankhead, one of the most artful word-parriers who ever glided across a stage, is also the actress most like the little girl who had the curl in the middle of her forehead. "When she is good, she is very, very good; but when she is bad, she is horrid"—or at least, unpredictable, and often in the presence of the press.

As a result of her colorful personality—and because a radio program is paying her weekly the unprecedented amount of $2,750 for 11½ minutes' work, a national magazine has assigned a writer to do an article on Tallu. The writer contacted the show's press agent to arrange an appointment, and the press agent approached La Bankhead with some trepidation. But Tallulah was in a sweet Southern-belle mood for the moment, and said to send the reporter to interview her immediately.

VIVIAN VANCE

They spent two hours together. The press agent was very happy.

P. S.—"How did you make out?" he asked the reporter later. "I don't know," the fellow replied. "But she got enough material out of me to write a book!"

* * *

VIVIAN VANCE is a beautiful young blonde from New Mexico. Her fellow citizens of Albuquerque discovered that she had theatrical talent, so they all chipped in to finance her way to New York. Vivian didn't have too hard a time finding work on Broadway. Vinton Freedly gave her a chorus job in one of his musicals to start with, advanced her to small speaking roles the next season, and finally let her become understudy to the star, Ethel Merman.

But Vivian could never get beyond the understudy stage under the Freedly banner. So she decided to give up musical comedy and become a dramatic actress.

She toiled through a Summer of cowbarn theatricals and learned enough to get a supporting role with Gertrude Lawrence in "Skylark." And last Summer she finally realized her ambition to be a leading lady: she played opposite Edward Everett Horton in "Springtime for Henry" in California.

P. S.—Vinton Freedly saw the first performance of "Springtime For Henry," and went backstage with a contract and a fountain pen. Vivian Vance is now back in musical comedy—playing one of the three frolicking wives in Freedly's hit, "Let's Face It."

* * *

WHEN CLIFFORD ODETS wrote "Golden Boy" a few seasons back, John Garfield fell in love with it, and with the role of the prize fighter-violinist—the hero. But Luther Adler got that part, and Garfield another role.

So, naturally, when he went to Hollywood he was anxious to play the film version of "Golden Boy," but the producers thought he wasn't "quite the type," and William Holden played Golden Boy No. 2.

Garfield is in the East now, and last week he appeared on the CBS Playhouse. He cornered the producer, Charles Martin, and insisted that he play the prize fighter in "Golden Boy." He did and was a great hit.

P. S.—Martin and whole radio crew were frantic when Garfield disappeared after the first broadcast and failed to return until two minutes before the repeat broadcast. "I went over to Madison Square Garden to take a look at the fighters." Then he grinned. "After seeing the beating they took—maybe I'm NOT the type!"

THE MAN behind the Hartmans—Paul and Grace—has always been Fred LeQuorne, their dance instructor. When the Hartmans started going to Hollywood for film work and to London for musical reviews, the business of constructing new routines became pretty difficult.

It's hard to describe a lift or a twirl with just words—so the Hartmans worked out a set of mysterious diagrams and symbols that LeQuorne could use in writing to them about new routines. And it worked fine, until the last time the Hartmans were abroad, when the war scare was on. A censor "lamped" one of the letters containing the special hieroglyphics, wondered if they might not stand for international secrets, and gave the Hartmans a bad turn before they talked their way out of it.

Paul was scared enough to spend the next 48 hours simplifying his correspondence system. "I'll fix it," he said, "so that a fi[illegible] on a porch in Iowa could read these steps and understa[illegible] what they mean."

P. S.—Farmers will be given the opportunity of reading the Hartmans' dance steps beginning next week. LeQuorne and the dance team are putting out a correspondence course in ballroom dancing, using their no-longer-mysterious "dance patterns" as a basis for the lessons.

The MARCH of EVENTS

—By Benjamin DeCasseres

THE LOYAL anti-Fascist Italians in the United States have rallied around the name of Giuseppe Mazzini (1805-1872). His name has become to our citizens of Italian origin and descent a synonym for liberty and republicanism. And it well may be, for no one in the last century was all his life more completely identified with revolutions designed to destroy all forms of tyranny in Italy.

Mazzini was the enemy of kings and princes of every breed. He started out as a writer, but he soon gave that up.

"Italians," he said, "could and therefore ought to struggle for liberty and for country."

He was in and out of jail a good portion of his career, was sentenced to die three times and was a perpetual fugitive, living in France, England and Switzerland by turns.

It was while he was a prisoner in the Fortress of Savona in 1830 that he conceived the Young Italy Movement, something quite different from the Young Italy Movement of Mussolini. Mazzini's Young Italy aimed at the liberation of Italy from both foreign and domestic tyranny.

Later in his life Mazzini flirted with the ideas of Karl Marx, but he naturally, as a passionate lover of liberty, soon gave up that German chain-rivetter. Just before his death he fought the Socialists, seeing in them just another form of Caesarism.

MAZZINI'S CONCEPTION of a democracy had so many mystical trimmings, however, that he would be outmoded in the realistic world of today. But he was a man of extraordinarily fine character, incorruptible and even sublime. Thomas Carlyle, the Scotch philosopher, who certainly has no stomach for democracy of any kind, said of Mazzini, whom he met in London:

"I can with great freedom testify that he, if I have ever seen such a one, is a man of genius and virtue, one of those rare men, numerable unfortunately but as units in this world, who are worthy to be called martyr souls."

If Mazzini were alive today Mussolini would have a price on his head.

IF WE ARE "going to get rid of a lot of things" after the war, I hope that among the things to which we are going to "give the air" will be our hypocrisy concerning some pleasant and universal "vices," which are really not "vices" at all, but escapes.

For instance, there is the petty, political, demogogic war on pinball and slot machines. Now although these machines are "outlawed" in many States and municipalities, the Treasury acknowledges a "take" of almost $5,000,000 in taxes from these machines during the last three months alone of 1941. There is a tax on pinball games of $10 a year and $50 a year on slot machines.

These taxes are being paid in many States where these games are illegal, but the Treasury, says an Associated Press dispatch from Washington, "is discreetly ignorant of who paid the taxes and where."

What a confession! What hypocrisy! Will they tell us next that it was all mailed to the "conscience fund?"

When Congress approved the slot machine tax there were arguments from some legislators that it amounted to legalizing gambling and that "they might as well go all the way and approve a national, government-controlled lottery."

WHY NOT? Let us have a national lottery and State lotteries and city lotteries. Gambling is, it seems, an ineradicable instinct in human beings. Our smug and hypocritical legislators, under the lash of some "group"—the same "group" that is now trying again to put over the infamy of Prohibition on us—pass bills which decree as "crimes" those very forms of gambling that they themselves privately indulge in.

We should face gambling more realistically. Our hypocrisy in regard to it is something of a stench.

While we are fighting liars, thieves and hypocrites abroad let us flick a few beams out of our own eyes.

THE PRESENT TIME may in future histories be called "The Age of Satan," for I doubt whether there were ever gathered together as rulers and sub-rulers at one time such incarnate forces of pure devilry as Hitler, Goering, Goebbels, Streicher, Himmler, Rosenberg, Lenin, Laval, Stalin, Mussolini, Quisling and Hirohito and his war-lords.

Certainly, the French Revolution cannot produce such a galaxy of sadistic cruelty.

For comparison, one must go back to certain of the Caesars—Nero, Caligula and Tiberius. And even these regimes were not so evil, as regimes, as the German, Italian and Russian regimes of the present generation. For the diabolical Caesars, like some of the satanic rulers of old China, were isolated individuals.

The Caesars were pathologic. Those men I have named above are not. They seem to be sane, deliberate killers for the sake of killing.

We have had no such men in the historical span of the United States—thank Heaven!

Yes, we are a superior people. Can we ever be corrupted? Shall we ever have rulers that will go down to the infernal depths of those men I have named? That is the one thing that, to me, is inconceivable.

Priscilla Lane

PRISCILLA LANE GETS CHOICE ROLES

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 20—Lum 'n' Abner's first comedy, "Dreaming Along," cost a mere $175,000 and grossed up to now $510,000—a nice profit in any language. So it is not surprising this pair of comics put their names on a new deal and, with Jack Votion continuing as their producer, will make a series of fun movies—the first to be called "Courtin' Time."

In Hollywood we call Lum 'n' Abner Chester Lauck and Norris Goff—or Chet and Tuffy—and everyone likes the two boys.

But, just between us, I had no idea they were so popular in the corn belt, the wide-open spaces and the Sunny South until I heard how their movies are cleaning up.

JANE WYMAN

Comedy is what the world wants these days, and Bob Hope, Jack Benny and Abbott and Costello have proved it by being veritable gold mines.

MUST SAY that when Priscilla Lane goes visiting from Warners she picks some prize roles. Priscilla no more than winds up "Saboteur" at Universal than she moves to Paramount for "Silver Queen." Harry Sherman's super-dooper Western.

And the little blonde Lane isn't the only Warner best bet Harry acquired in his private raid on the Burbank plant.

He's also arranged to borrow George Brent and Lloyd Bacon, the latter to handle the megaphoning. Harry Sherman has had "Silver Queen" packed in moth balls for months until he got just the right cast.

THE GALS who are left behind while the boys are serving Uncle Sam will be glorified in a part-musical, part-drama—"Sweethearts of 1942"—by Jack Warner.

Don't think for a minute the girls at home aren't a big morale problem. Remember when our AEF landed in Ireland the first Yank interviewed said he felt fine—but wondered if his girl would wait for him?

Well, the girls who will do the waiting in the Warner movie are Brenda Marshall, Alexis Smith, Jane Wyman, Peggy Diggins and Jean Ames—quite a bevy, you must admit.

The cast isn't entirely all femme, as this lineup hints, but so far the respective heroes haven't been announced.

* * *

Humphrey Bogart is hosting a farewell stag party for John McLain, Hollywood's most popular man-about-town, who leaves for the Army.

Sally Eilers, Harry Joe Brown, Jane Wyman, Ronald Reagan, Gracie Allen and George Burns are saving rubber tires by walking to the Beverly Tropics.

Brenda Marshall, now weighing less than 100 pounds, is on a weight-gaining diet. Lucky gal!

Andrea Leeds' new daughter, Leeann Howard, will sponsor her grandpappy's Kentucky Derby entry, Chiquita Mia, when the race is run in May. Not bad for a 3-month-old heiress.

That's all today; see you tomorrow! But Eddy Anthony, Philadelphia, says: "Help the fleet turn on the heat. Back them with defense bonds."

BOSTON after DARK

By GEORGE HOLLAND

ON THE EVE OF SPRING—which, barring the unforeseen, will be with us tomorrow—comes news of summer . . . The Ritz-Carlton Roof will open its season midway in June with Freddy Martin's band . . . The Cambridge Summer Theater will begin its annual season earlier than ever before in its brief but profitable existence on the third Monday in May . . . The opening attraction has not yet been announced, but "Clash By Night," perhaps with Tallulah Bankhead starring, will be presented sometime this summer . . . The "little Barnum" of show-business, Billy Rose, has written a song called "Keep 'Em Smiling," and the veteran Charles King, hero of many a George M. Cohan operetta, has introduced the song at Mr. Rose's "Diamond Horseshoe" in New York . . . As you are going to be hearing this "war-song" more frequently than any other patriotic ditty yet turned out, we thought a few words of its origin might be interesting for future tabbing.

THE MOST CHARMING pair of youngsters this department has had the pleasure of reviewing in a Boston nightclub cocktail lounge are Fred and Mai Dearborn, a brother and sister from Springfield . . . They are working at the Rio Casino's Garden

TALENTED FRED AND MAI DEARBORN
Springfield Pair Star at Rio Casino's Garden Lounge

Lounge and it will be entirely worth your while to drop in and listen to the boy pluck away at a guitar, while his sister thumps the piano in a delirium of perfect rhythm.

THEY BOTH SING, and harmonize to one another's accompaniment . . . A request for "Dinah" or for "Blues in the Night" will be well repaid, although Miss Dearborn works alone in the latter number and the kids are better when they are merging efforts . . . If vaudeville were here again, the Dearborns wouldn't be hidden in the nether reaches of a Boston nightclub . . . (Not that the Rio Casino's bar isn't attractive).

HUGE HAPPY FELTON, the erstwhile bandleader with the infectious smile who was a tremendous favorite in Providence a season or two ago, should be drawing commission from the New Haven railroad . . . His old fans in Little Rhody are flocking to the Majestic, where Happy is co-starred with Jay C. Flippen in "Hellzapoppin'" . . . Bobby Clark, who is a close second to Victor Moore as this department's all-time favorite comedian, can be expecting a visitor from New York tonight or tomorrow.

THIS VISITOR TRAVELS light and guides a sleek, fashionable roadster which glitters with chromium, and which doesn't seem to be in key with the appearance of the man behind the wheel . . . The visitor wears a two-day growth of whiskers and a leather jerkin and lumberman's boots when he's on the road . . . But the stage doorman at the Boston Opera House won't bar him as a suspicious-appearing gent—not if he scrutinizes him carefully . . . For it will be Michael Todd, whose "The Hot Mikado" played the Opera House two seasons ago to crowded houses.

MIKE WANTS MR. CLARK as star of his new "glorified burlesque show," in which Gypsy Rose Lee will be co-starred . . . As "The Rivals," in which Bobby is now starring, closes in Baltimore a week from tomorrow, rehearsals could begin in the near future . . . Mr. Todd will confer also with Boston scouts who have been surveying and classifying the damsels, comedians and jokes of those Boston institutions, the Old Howard and the Globe Theaters.

ALL OF CONTEMPORARY burlesque has been given a once-over-heavily by Mr. Todd and his staff, and the show won't fail for lack of preparation . . . Producer Todd has been nursing the notion of a sl.ky, Ziegfeldian burlesque show for two full years . . . Johnny Green of Harvard has written the score, and a Boston opening in May is the objective.

Harvard Seeks Old Medical Equipment

Dean C. Sidney Burwell of the Harvard Medical School today issued an appeal to Harvard alumni to lend, rent or sell to the medical school such instruments as microscopes, hemacytometers and blood pressure apparatus. He urged alumni owning such equipment to allow the school to inspect it and advise promptly how it can be used.

Burwell cited the needs of the Army and Navy as the reason for his appeal, mentioning the increasing difficulty of supplying students with the required types of medical equipment.

COURT PARTS 4 MISMATED COUPLES HERE

After a while said Mrs. Agnes McCue in probate court, it became a matter of progressive guesswork to tell when her husband would be home.

When they were first married in 1935, she told Judge Robert Gardiner today in granting a divorce from Henry McCue, also of East Boston, the bridegroom did pretty well in the matter of getting home on time.

Then he began to lag, and he'd get home at 6 p. m. and at 7 30, and at 10, and then at 1 a. m. and at 2 a. m. That, she figured, was late enough, and because, also, he had been abusive, she left him.

She testified she lost 21 pounds the first few weeks after marriage, but when she told Henry he merely laughed at her.

"Well, I guess he was a little too old for you," commented the judge.

"I guess he was," she agreed.

Irving Scott Elliot, distinguished-looking, gray-haired resident of Rivas Edge via Mattapan, did no such agreeing with Judge Wilson when the judge suggested that perhaps Elliot's wife was too young for him.

"She is only nine years younger than I," said Elliot coldly.

He obtained a divorce to end a marriage begun 41 years ago with Flora M. Elliot of Laconia, N. H. He said they settled in Boston, but she refused to stay and returned to New Hampshire years ago, to live with a sister. He charged desertion.

Edna Bernadette Shaw of Walcott st., Charlestown, a striking blonde, won a divorce from Warren S. Shaw of Charlestown on grounds of cruelty.

She testified they had frequent arguments regarding money and the climax came one night when he slipped her and made her nose bleed.

A divorce was also granted by Judge Wilson to Clara Farr of Huntington ave., Back Bay, from Raymond H. Farr. She also charged cruelty.

Big News Tip Contest Has Only 2 Days More

There are only two days more, today and tomorrow, for readers of the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser to share in the $100 cash awards for "quick-on-the-phone" news tipster awards and the 50 pairs of guest seats for Loew's State and Orpheum theaters, but regular weekly awards of $25 will be continued.

To be a tipster and share in the cash awards given by the News Tip Editor each week, all you have to do is get to the nearest phone when something happens, call Liberty 4000 and—tell us.

The weekly news tip contests have provided hundreds of amateur reporters with fun and an opportunity to display the "nose for news" that is inherent in most Americans.

Originally boosted to $100 for one week, in co-operation with the Loew's theaters, the Tip Editor has had $75 extra cash to award for three weeks, this being the last. Announcement of winners will be made in Tuesday's Record and American.

The 50 pairs of guest seats to be awarded are for Carole Lombard's last starring picture, "To Be or Not to Be," with Jack Benny.

WPB Booms Output Of Tire-Less Trailers

WASHINGTON, March 20 (AP)—The house trailer industry will hit an all-time production peak of 50,000 trailers this year, the government estimated today.

Under War Production Board orders, they will be sold solely in war industry areas. In recognition of their importance in solving the wartime housing problem, the board has made 4000 tires and tubes available to trailer manufacturers.

To make the inadequate supply of tires go as far as possible, WPB restricted the industry to the purchase of one set of tires for every five trailers. As soon as a trailer is delivered to a war industry worker, the tires are removed, the trailer is propped up on wood blocks or timbers, and the tires are returned to the manufacturer for future delivery use.

Later on wooden tires for use on wooden rims may be used. Another suggested expedient to meet the rubber shortage is the use of a steel rim over an old tire. The house trailer section of WPB is working with the industry to perfect both these substitutes, and if they prove feasible they will be used instead of rubber tires for transporting the dwellings to their buyers.

The trailer industry also is taking on direct war work. One company, WPB reported, has converted a plant to the production of airplane gliders and three other companies are preparing to produce wooden airplanes for training purposes.

TOWN TAX RATE CUT $7

COHASSET, March 20 (AP) — A tax rate of $29, $7 below the 1941 rate, was announced by assessors today. It was the lowest rate in 10 years.

Navy Worker Caught in Chase

Captured by police after a foot chase through Sunday sq., Stephen Weiner, 31, Charlestown Navy Yard employe, was taken into court today to face a charge of violating probation.

Police said Weiner had been placed on probation in connection with an infraction of the auto laws and when he failed to report for a final check-out a default was issued for his arrest.

This came to the attention of Navy Yard officials, who claimed Weiner had failed to inform them of his court record. They notified Probation Officer George J. McDonnell and he took the man into custody.

Just as Weiner was being led into the doors of City Prison in the new courthouse building at Pemberton sq., he broke loose and ran toward Scollay sq. Patrolman Patrick F. Finnegan of the Joy st. station finally apprehended him.

Swallows Keep Coast Tradition

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Cal., March 20 (AP)—The Mission swallows came back to San Juan Capistrano, fulfilling a tradition which dates far back through the years.

They arrived on St. Joseph's Day—right on schedule—and made quick inspections of their nests, then flew into the canyons in quest of food.

For many years the swallows left the Mission on St. John's Day, Oct. 23, as regularly as they arrived on St. Joseph's Day. But the last three years they have departed in July or August.

Scientists blamed the use of orchard sprays, which kill insects on which the birds feed.

Beauty

YOU CAN BE BEAUTIFUL—As seductive as the crisp black net that Veronica Lake wears around her shoulders . . . is the new perfume-scented face powder which Arline Gould says has arrived with a matching lipstick to back up the potent allure of an exotic perfume.

LIPSTICKS, FACE POWDER ENTRANCINGLY PERFUMED

By ARLINE GOULD

OF ALL the fragrances that are intended to beset, bewitch and bedazzle the masculine senses, none has had more honors heaped on its crystal top than a certain formula importation from Spain. It arrived here via the South Americas and Cuba, and lots of knowing damsels went right to work with it . . . to their intense satisfaction and reward.

As a perfume it was a wow. And American gals being nothing if not thorough when it comes to the art of using perfumes . . . we might say they've long since passed the Parisians of storied fame in their own success with knowledgeable use of fragrance . . . demanded that more of the glamour necessaries be imbued with this head-turning scent.

Face powder appeared to be the most logical medium for carrying on this particular scent . . . since most face powders are a little shy of real perfuming . . . and they might just as well carry the theme on as well as anything else. Sachet powder for the body is nothing new . . . and a powder for the face with enough perfume oils in it to be just as strong as a sachet seemed to be an inspiration.

So it is, and was . . . now it's arrived in Boston. A face powder with the same distracting scent. It's a marvelously flattering powder, too . . . for it is close-clinging, velvety, and comes in superb skin shades.

Most lipsticks have that common fault (that is, it's a fault if you don't mind flavoring your soup or your tea with a definite taste and scent of perfume, and since it's in a good cause WE don't) of being neither here nor there when it comes to fragrance. They seem to fight shy of it and the result is perhaps a trifle uninteresting. But never with this particular perfume! For it's only just that you should be able to match up your perfume and face powder with the lipstick, if the scent is THAT good . . . which it is!

To learn about these entrancingly perfumed lipsticks and face powder, to match an exotic perfume, phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, except the week-end, or write, care of the Boston Evening American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

NEWS FOR MODERN WOMEN

· FOOD ·

By Martha Lee

MOST OF US DON'T HAVE time to do much fancy cooking any more—especially on week days when, along with managing our homes and families, we are handling outside activities as well. With so many women holding full-time factory and office jobs, attending civic meetings, giving all their time and talents to the cause, the art of short-cut cookery has become more important than it ever was before. Now we really have to depend on quickly prepared dishes and ready-to-serve foods to see us through our crowded daily schedules.

Sure as Sunday comes, however, no matter how brisk and businesslike we've been all week, the domestic woman latent in all of us crops out, and we like to do a little old-time cooking in the kitchen. It's a downright comfort, after wearing official garb all week, to don a kitchen apron and putter among the pots and pans on Sunday. It seems to give us a sense of security again, a serenity we need to cultivate all we can.

SUNDAY SUPPER

It is surprising, though, even in our Sunday cooking sprees, how many week-day, quick-trick methods we will carry over to save time and improve our cookery. For instance, say you'd like to make a spaghetti ring for supper next Sunday night — a tender, tasty circlet of spaghetti filled in the center with succulent stalks of broccoli, buttered peas, sauteed tuna flakes for something fancy, or even chicken a la king.

SPAGHETTI RING with buttered broccoli.

To make a spaghetti ring like that would sound like a time and skill consuming task. And it would be, too, if you had to start from the beginning—cooking your own spaghetti, concocting your own sauce, then mixing and molding it into shape. But when you use a canful of the prepared spaghetti, the kind that comes completely cooked and seasoned and ready to serve, you cut your kitchen chores in half. The delicate strands of this prepared spaghetti make a tender-textured ring, and the spicy tomato and cheese sauce adds extra flavor to the dish.

Here is the recipe:

SPAGHETTI RING

6 strips bacon
2 medium (17-oz.) cans cooked spaghetti in tomato sauce with cheese
4 eggs
½ tsp. salt

Cook bacon until crisp. Crumble in small pieces, then add to spaghetti, eggs and salt. Blend thoroughly. Pour into a well-greased ring mold. Bake in a moderate oven (325 deg. F.) ¾ to 1 hour, or until firm. Fill center of ring with cooked buttered broccoli or green peas.

Using ready-to-serve spaghetti, you can prepare many delectable dishes with a minimum of energy and time. You will find pure pleasure in making this dish.

SPAGHETTI WITH HAM AND MUSHROOMS

½ lb fresh mushrooms
2 tbsp. butter
1 cup finely diced boiled ham or tongue
1 small onion, scraped or finely diced
1 green pepper, chopped
1 large (24-oz.) can cooked spaghetti in tomato sauce
Salt and pepper to taste

Slice the mushrooms thinly, then cook in butter until tender. Add meat, onion, green pepper and continue cooking until slightly brown. Add spaghetti, salt and pepper, and heat thoroughly. Serve on platter and garnish with sprigs of parsley and ripe olives. Makes 4 servings.

The Correct Thing

By Elinor Ames

INTRODUCTION HINT!

The high school age youth often neglects to make an introduction because he is afraid of making a social blunder. The important thing is to make the introduction. An awkwardly worded one is far better than none at all.

Fashion

HEARTBREAKERS in the way of hats . . . sweeping brims big enough to suit any man who likes his girl in a big hat . . . with the ultimate in resistance-breaking trimmings, gauzy net and lace veiling . . . were the sensation of the Hotel Pierre's Cotillion room fashion show. Walter Florell did both of these disturbingly lovely things . . . the romantic large hat of champagne color satin, with a pointed dip over the eyes, and completely swathed in chocolate brown lace veiling. Natural straw, the crown and rolled brim trimmed with black horsehair lace, sees the introduction of a third color note, something to watch.—ANNICE BRINK.

MANY FURLESS SPRING COATS PLAIN AS DRESSES

By BETTINA BEDWELL

COATS TO WEAR at Easter this year are likely to be simple, well-cut models without any fur on them. They may be in bright or light colors, but they are being chosen because they have good wool in them, and because they are as light and slim and uncumbersome as a dress.

In fact, many spring coats look like dresses this year. They may be worn over a slip, or a dress, just as you feel like doing.

The kind of coat I mean is sketched by Miss Dulin. This is a coat made of beige wool, fine and firm, and it has a dropped shoulder yoke, and a skirt that is pleated at the front.

It fastens on open-work plastic buttons that are set like cuff-links in pairs. Note the shirt sleeves, for these are new in coats and both flattering and practical.

MRS. ROOSEVELT SAYS:

Exclusive

Young Chinese Busy

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

NEW YORK CITY, Thursday—We spent yesterday in New York City. I was busy a good part of the day with personal things, but at 4 o'clock I went to the YWCA at the invitation of Mrs. John Finley, to receive some charming Chinese scrolls from the students of China. The YWCA has done a great deal of work in foreign countries for many years, but it is particularly proud of its achievements in China, and rightly so. At the simple ceremony yesterday afternoon, there were many fine looking young Chinese people who are studying here.

Heavy responsibilities will fall upon them in developing the future of their country. Many of them are already doing work that would seem almost impossible of accomplishment under the present situation in China, but they are going ahead under Madame Chiang Kai-shek's leadership, and this gives one courage to look forward to even greater achievements in the future.

China and India will probably work together very closely. The affiliation between the students of the two countries will probably be very significant in the future.

I MUST NOT FORGET to tell you that my children and I, who were lunching together yesterday, quite unexpectedly met Mr. Louis Bromfield. We invited him to join us, and that led to much exciting and vehement talk among Franklin, Jr., Ethel, Mr. Bromfield and myself.

It is a delightful combination to be a farmer and a writer. The kind of farm Mr. Bromfield runs must be an exciting adventure. Farming on a scale large enough to have the workers on the place your partners and really make it a business, is one of the things, which, if I were young, would appeal to me.

On one thing at least, Mr. Bromfield and I did agree, in spite of many arguments. We decided that to work on something you enjoyed, was an essential part of life, that the only real security which anybody has in this world is his own earning capacity.

LAST EVENING, we went to see Sir James Barrie's play, "A Kiss for Cinderella." It has all the tender imaginative charm one associates with much of his writing, but Luise Rainer's acting really makes the perfection of the play.

She is so appealing that one must love Cinderella, and, of course, Mr. Cecil Humphreys and Mr. Ralph Forbes and the rest of the cast make of the entire evening a delight and a pleasant memory.

Noyes-O'Day Ceremony

Dorothy O'Day, daughter of Mr and Mrs. John O'Day of Brookline, is wearing a beautiful gown of white faille for her marriage at four this afternoon to Ensign Jansen Noyes, Jr., U. S. N. R., of Montclair, N. J. The ceremony in St. Lawrence's Rectory in Chestnut Hill is followed by a small reception at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride's gown is fashioned with a high V neckline and a band of open work outlining a deep yoke. The bodice is slim and fitted and the skirt flares into a long train.

Mary O'Day maid of honor, is wearing a gown of pale pink organdie fashioned with an apron front edged with navy blue lace. Her bouquet of pastel carnations tipped with pink matches her headdress of fresh flowers. Ann, the bride's schoolgirl sister, is bridesmaid.

Astrid Varnay Forced by Illness to Quit 'Lohengrin'

Brilliant Opera Season Opening

By JOYCE DANA

"Lohengrin," considered by many as Wagner's masterpiece of lyric drama, opened the Metropolitan Opera's brief season at the Metropolitan Theater last evening.

A large audience, in costumes ranging from tweeds to ermine and orchids, had cheers for the old Wagnerian standbys—Lauritz Melchior and Kerstin Thorborg—and for the brilliant conducting of Erich Leinsdorf.

Interest had centered on the Boston debut of the Met's newly discovered star, Astrid Varnay, however, and not until the close of the second act did the puzzled patrons discover why all the ballyhoo about the sensational young Swedish-American soprano, who stepped into the role of Elsa at a moment's notice, failed to live up to its billing.

• • •

Miss Varnay, according to a regretful announcement at the second curtain, was indisposed. "A lowering of her voice," the doctor called it, and as unfortunate as her indisposition was, it accounted for the fact that while her singing was clean and true and fresh, it lacked the color and power to rise above the orchestration.

Nevertheless, the performance was a rewarding one, for who could be a nobler and more picturesque Lohengrin than Mr. Melchior, whose rich and robust tenor has always and still does meet the exacting demands of the Wagnerian score?

Due to Miss Varnay's withdrawal, Maxine Stellman stepped into the third act as Elsa. And a fine, big voice the lady has. This was her first appearance as a principal in a major Wagnerian role. Not only is her vocal range up to the requirements of these sometimes stupendous roles, but she has a decided flair for the dramatic, within the limits Wagner allowed his vocal puppets to run a gamut or so. It was a tough spot to be in, and Miss Stellman handled it with the skill of a veteran. Just another break the Met can always find in their own ranks.

Miss Thorborg's duet with Julius Huehn, opening the second act, was magnificent. While it may be irrelevant to suggest, it's a truism that experience, as well as vocal equipment, tells in singing Wagner.

• • •

Norman Cordon's King Henry, and Leonard Warren's splendid singing of the role of the King's Herald, were other satisfying performances.

Mr. Leinsdorf's conducting, with a good full orchestra in the pit to take care of the rousing brasses of the third act Prelude (which always seems too short) was remarkably eloquent.

Tonight's opera will be Mozart's "The Magic Flute," with Mr. Bruno Walter conducting, and a cast headed by Nadine Conner, Rosa Bok, Maxine Stellman, Alexander Kipnis, Charles Kullman, Friedrich Schorr, Mark Harrell, Eleanor Steber and Anna Kaskas.

THE NEW ESQUIRE THEATER brings the Academy Award-winning Joan Fontaine to its screen tomorrow in "Gunga Din," in which she shares starring honors with Cary Grant, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Victor McLaglen.

Kay Kyser, John Barrymore Romp to Para-Fenway Hit

By PEGGY DOYLE

The idea of having John Barrymore play a washed-up ham . . . that's his manager Patsy Kelly's word for the Great Profile . . . and Kay Kyser, a Dixieland Macbeth . . . Barrymore's capsuled sneer for the mild-man-heard, naive band-leader . . . adds up to juicy entertainment including not a few laughs where the vest begins.

If some of that lagging start had been left on the cutting-room floor and the photography had been stepped up, this third Kyser film would have been an unqualified comedy classic.

As it is, this seemingly far-fetched teaming of Barrymore and Kyser in a really good story built around their real-life personalities . . . they are Barrymore and Kyser in the script . . . has resulted in a comedy that clicked at the Paramount and Fenway box office from the opening show.

Barrymore, being ribbed by everybody in the cast including himself, is a pushover for laughs from movie fans whose merriment isn't hampered by memories of his great days in the theater.

On the other fist, Kyser's casparmilquetoast manner and un-actory-appearance provides a unique cornfed contrast to the handsomest representative of Broadway's traditional royal family.

The two have been inveigled into putting on a Shakespearean festival on the swank Long Island estate by an air sponsor whose socially ambitious wife swoons at the mere thought of the Barrymore charm.

Barrymore coaching Kyser for his Romeo role is one of the picture's brightest sequences. Another is the 1942 swing version of "Romeo and Juliet," with its slick Van Heusen-Burke tune, "Romeo Smith and Juliet Jones," presented by Kyser and his band to the consternation of the silenced Barrymore.

There are excellent performances by assisting players. May Robson, who finally plays Juliet after all these years and to John Barrymore's Romeo; Patsy Kelly and Peter Lind Hayes, as the Barrymore and Kyser managers; the round hair-cut comic, Ish Kabibble; Sully Mason, the dialectic singer-trumpeter, and Ginny Simms, who, figuratively, photographs beautifully but who has been facially slandered.

The co-feature, "Young America," stars Hollywood's favorite sub-deb Jane Withers, with Jane Darnell and Lynne Roberts.

ONLY TODAY and tomorrow remain in which to catch lovely Maureen O'Hara in "Little Miss Molly," the Gayety's screen feature.

CAROLE LOMBARD, JACK BENNY SUPERB IN LOEW'S' 'TO BE OR NOT TO BE'

Masterpiece By Lubitsch

"TO BE OR NOT TO BE," a United Artists-Alexander Korda-Ernst Lubitsch production co-starring Carole Lombard and Jack Benny and directed by Lubitsch. Screen play by Edwin Justus Mayer from story by Lubitsch and Melchior Lengyel. At Loew's State and Orpheum Theaters.

By PEGGY DOYLE

In "To Be or Not To Be," Loew's new film comedy which reeks with Lubitsch touches, Carole Lombard writes a brilliant and smiling finis to a notable screen career.

Playing a characteristically gay and charming role, Miss Lombard's final screen performance is happily keyed to memorialize the exit of a gallant lady.

The picture, produced by Alexander Korda under Lubitsch's direction, is alternately unexpectedly suspenseful and madly funny with its story of a legit stock company in Warsaw before and during the Nazi invasion of the Polish capital.

Miss Lombard is the fascinating leading lady, whose husband, Jack Benny, is a ham matinee idol. In fact, if you include Miss Lombard out, there is more ham in the company than in a delicatessen and the way Benny sugar-cures Hamlet is beautiful to see.

The jello jester has been keeping things from us, and we mean that Lunt technique he has suddenly acquired in the department of satire. It may be that the master himself, John Barrymore, who is corning up the yard on a neighboring screen this week to the huge delight of us local yokels, aided him with some tutoring.

In a different assignment, requiring him to get laughs from the Gestapo occupation of Warsaw, Lubitsch manages to keep the comedy rolling, every now and then punctuating it with a sequence of stark, taut suspense.

It is an expert job of direction, and he has magnificent co-operation from the stars down. The distinguished supporting cast includes Felix Bressart, Sig Ruman, Stanley Ridges, Tom Dugan, Maude Eburne, Robert Stack and Lionel Atwill, all of whom distinguish themselves.

The co-feature is "Brooklyn Orchid," with Marjorie Woodworth, William Bendix and Joe Sawyer.

Carole Lombard bids her fans a smiling adieu in "To Be or Not to Be," her last picture in which she is co-starred with Jack Benny. On Loew's twin screens, it is not to be missed.

OLYMPIA'S FILMS

"Louisiana Purchase," starring Bob Hope, Vera Zorina, Victor Moore and Irene Bordoni, opens on Washington St. Olympia screen today. On the same bill is "Pacific Blackout" with Robert Preston and Martha O'Driscoll.

Grable-Mature Hit At Scollay, Modern

"Song of the Islands," with the bodies beautiful Betty Grable and Victor Mature and the pretty but funny Jack Oakie, is the new attraction on the Scollay and Modern screens.

The co-feature is "Shanghai Gesture."

School Shops Speed Jr. Army Training

All boys in the Boston public schools from the sixth grade and above, including hundreds of members of the Junior Victory Army, will devote every possible moment in school shop time and at home to the construction of model planes, Supt. Arthur L. Gould has announced.

The plan goes into effect immediately.

The school department is participating in this project at the request of the Bureau of Aeronautics, U. S. Navy. These models, to be built from official government plans, will be used for the training of flying cadets and spotters" for civilian defense.

The Navy has called for 500,000 from model builders throughout the nation. The Boston quota is 7500.

The models will represent planes of both the United Nations and the Axis. The 50 different types designed include the Japanese Sento Ki-100, the Messerschmitt ME-110, British Spitfire, Curtiss P-40E, Northrop A-17A, Wellington, Douglas A-20-A and Heinkel HE-111.

The types assigned have been divided so that the sixth grade pupils will make the simpler planes and the high school students will build the more difficult ones. Between now and the end of the school term each boy is expected to complete at least one model each in the manual training classes.

Arrangements have been made to speed up this work in all school shops. Boys will be encouraged to report earlier to school; study periods will be utilized as shop accommodations permit, and apt pupils will be allowed to take work home with them.

The completed models are to be carefully inspected before shipment by local committees, as the Navy wants a high degree of accuracy in following the scale and precision work.

BAKED CUSTARD

3 eggs, slightly beaten
3 tbsp. sugar
½ tsp. salt
3 cups milk
Nutmeg

Combine slightly beaten eggs, sugar, salt, and milk, and stir until sugar is dissolved. Pour in custard cups, sprinkle with nutmeg, and place cups in pan of hot water. Bake in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) until set, about 25 minutes. The custard will be cooked when mixture does not adhere to knife when inserted. Cool quickly by placing cups in cold water. Makes 6 custards.

Manners

Mourning for Nephew

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

My sister's boy aged 18, has just died, and I would like to wear some kind of mourning for him. Since the distance between my home and my sister's is so great, we could not attend the funeral. But I loved this boy dearly, and I would like to wear some kind of mourning, out of respect for my sister and for my nephew. I have been a widow for many years. ELEANOR.

Since you so sincerely feel that your wearing some kind of mourning would be a symbol of your deep love for your nephew and for your sister, of course do as your feelings suggest. For such a young man, I would not, if I were you, wear all-black, but perhaps dresses of dull black material with white collars or other accessories. If there is a question of economy, you might have one or two dresses dyed, if you have no black dresses. Or, of course, you might suitably wear only dark clothes, not necessarily black.

It is very difficult for an outsider to suggest what you do, for this question of wearing mourning is such a personal inclination.

Then there is another point of view, dear friend. If wearing mourning means that you must buy new clothes, perhaps you would prefer to wear the dark clothes you have, and dedicate the mourning-clothes money to the Red Cross, or some other service, "in loving memory."

Love and Marriage

Soldier's Warning to Girls

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

FOLLOWING is such a complete answer to the scores of letters received on the fidelity of girls becoming engaged to soldiers and then transferring their affections to men nearer at hand, that I'm going to give it in full:

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

"I read your article about a girl who promised to marry a soldier and changed her mind. I know what happens to soldiers in such cases, for my experience has been almost identical. Perhaps this girl's intentions were good, but there are many girls who go ga-ga over a uniform and say a lot of things they don't mean.

"They meet a man in the service and tell him how much they love him. He goes back to camp and dreams of her night and day until he finally gets another pass. He goes to town and finds her dated up with someone else. Back to camp he goes, hating the Army for what she has done to him. He slouches in his work, gets into trouble with his superiors and finally winds up doing kitchen police. Or he may get so disgusted he goes A. W. O. L.; then comes court-martial and he's lost his chances for a rating.

"Meanwhile the girl goes on throwing the same old line to someone else. After I was inducted into the service, my girl friend got married, and since then I'm afraid I've made things miserable not only for myself but for the boys I bunk with.

"I didn't ask her to promise to wait for me and told her to enjoy herself, for it might be a long time before I'd get back. A man who goes into the service and asks a girl to wait for him is just crazy or something. Naturally, she'll meet someone who'll take his place. In my case she told me ahead of time what was happening, and there wasn't a thing I could do about it.

"A good many of the boys feel just as I do. How do they expect us to maintain morale if girls promise things they don't mean?

"PRIVATE J."

This letter is so absolutely typical of many that have come to this column, I'm going to ask boys in all branches of the service to have their say in this column. How do you feel about this enlisted man's letter?

Combine a No. 1 can of shrimp (save 4 whole shrimp for garnish) with 1 cup diced celery. Moisten with mayonnaise. Peel and cut 4 tomatoes in 5 sections, petal fashion. Fill center of tomato with shrimp mixture. Place whole shrimp on top; sprinkle with chopped chives. Makes 4 servings.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, FRIDAY, MARCH 20, 1942

STABLE FIRE PROBED AS 14 HORSES BURN

Fire officials today sought the cause of a menacing three-alarm blaze which destroyed the century-old stables operated by Edward J. Dooley on Old Colony ave South Boston, with the loss of 17 valuable horses and ponies.

Several employes braved the thick smoke and blazing haylofts, from which flaming clumps of hay dropped around them, and saved a prized calico pony and three horses.

John J. Donnelly, whose West Ninth st. home faced on one side of the burning building, led in efforts to save the trapped animals but collapsed from smoke inhalation and suffered several burns. He was removed to City Hospital.

When he ran into the stable, his wife saw him from the piazza of her home, and fainted, dropping her baby daughter, Mary. The excitement spoiled a shower party being held at the time for Donnelly's sister, Marion, in honor of her forthcoming Easter marriage.

Twelve of the animals were burned to death in the flaming stable. Five others were led from the stable but were so badly burned they had to be destroyed by Archibald MacDonald, state animal protection officer.

Of the other five animals rescued, MacDonald said, three probably will have to be destroyed.

Sports by Jack Conway

Golf Has Aided War Charities

FREDDY COCHRANE tells me that for the duration of the war the Professional Golf Association will continue to turn over the receipts of most of its major tournaments to various relief funds. When I was in Florida, the Boston man who has become the Judge Landis of professional golf revealed to me that the link stars under his direction have already raised more than $100,000 for war charities and relief funds.

Other than the boxing game as headed by Joe Louis and Mike Jacobs no sport has made as large a contribution to the war effort as golf. During the winter tour of the professional golfers in Texas, $50,000 was added to the service total. There is more golf enthusiasm in Texas than in any part of the United States.

Inspired by what the Professional Golfers Ass'n has done under the direction of Fred H. Corcoran, it has been decided that the net proceeds of the $15,000 Tam O'Shanter open and the All-American Amateur Golf Tournament played at the Tam O'Shanter course in Chicago on June 23-25 will be donated to the Army Emergency Fund.

Other sports could do well to follow the lead set by boxing and golf in the war effort.

It is expected that the race tracks of the country will raise $2,000,000. Col. Matt Winn of Churchill Downs has already pledged $50,000 toward this total.

The three New England tracks, Suffolk Downs, Narragansett Park and Rockingham Park, are expected to raise $100,000.

Louis Gives Again

Joe Louis will add to his total for personal contributions to war charities when he will donate his entire purse from his 15-round title bout with Abe Simon in the New York Garden next Friday night to the Army Relief Fund.

Louis recently boxed Buddy Baer for the Navy Relief Society and he now is eager to do something big for his buddies in the Army. It is also likely that service organizations will be cut in on the million dollar gate that Louis and Billy Conn will draw in June.

Louis will be risking his title when he boxes Simon without compensation. This ring asset is easily worth a million dollars. While Louis should knock Simon out, there is always the risk that a broken hand or a cut eye may strip a champion of his laurels.

* * *

For Jimmy Johnston to keep at the top in boxing for so many years he has had to possess a certain amount of exceptional ability. Jimmy manages Simon while he also pilots Bob Pastor who recently knocked out Lem Franklin and who will probably get a third crack at Louis in September provided the "Brown Bomber" is not beaten by Simon or Conn. At this writing it is very unlikely that either Simon or Conn can accomplish such a feat.

Johnston is a genius for new publicity angles. He has the giant Simon doing knitting at his training camp, while Mrs. Simon, a bride of a month, accompanies her husband on his road work.

Simon will give his best efforts and hopes to build new prestige that will gain for him future attractive bouts. Abe lasted 13 rounds against Louis in Detroit, and if he can weather five or six rounds next Friday night he will probably feel satisfied.

Simon has a pretty fair left hand which will help him to keep the Louis dynamite off his chin for a pair of rounds at least.

KELLEY TOPS FAST FIELD IN 20-MILE ROAD GRIND

The North Medford Club race committee, headed by Milkman Joe Smith, will prove a tough combination to beat on Narrow afternoon when the club opens the Marathon "season" with its annual 20-mile grind.

Smith, publicity director of the group, will have Fred Brown, Louis Young and Archie Bonnalo, all members of the committee, as his running mates.

An odd turn in events will find the competitors battling for their own prizes.

Juggling the possibility of abandoning the race for economy reasons, the Medford men found that the plodders were willing to donate the trophies they themselves would vie for.

Dennie K. Bey, six-time winner, Les Pawson, Paul Doyle, Pete Ameraglio, Fred and Frank Brown and Tony Mudenas pooled their winnings of past years to fill out the prize list.

Of course, Arlington Johnny Kelley will be the "one taker." Holder of the track record, Kelley has only missed winning two since the Carathon started. Two years ago, Kelley didn't compete.

Other prominent runners who will tour the Medford, Stoneham, Malden and Somerville route include Fred McGlone, John Coleman, Jock Semple, Tarzan Brown, Lloyd Causey and Don Heinicke.

Don Padgett To Be Called In Next Group

FOREST CITY, N. C., March 20 (AP) — Don Padgett, Brooklyn Dodger outfielder-catcher, will be called up for active duty in the next group summoned by the Forest City draft board, a spokesman for the board said today.

When Branch Rickey bought Padgett from the St. Louis Cardinals last winter a clause in the contract stipulated that if Padgett entered the armed forces before the National League season opened on April 14, the deal would be called off. Brooklyn expected to have paid $25,000 for the sturdy utility man, who batted .247 for the Cardinals last year.

IS TEX THROUGH?—Red Sox may have seen the last of Tex Hughson who left camp the other day for a doctor's office in Coral Gables. No word has been received back in camp and Tex, who is well liked by all the Sox, is being considered "washed up" for the season at least.

TED WORKS TOO HARD; HURTS HIP

By HERB FINNEGAN

SARASOTA, Fla., March 20—Despite a flock of hot and cold treatments at the hands of Trainer Win Green, Ted Williams was still complaining of a strained left hip today.

The Kid has been bearing down heavy in batting practice and his inability to belt a few on the nose was thought to have brought on too strenuous a swing leading to the muscular strain.

Skipper Joe Cronin talked it over with Win Green and the net result is Williams may be brought along more slowly at the plate until he is back swinging normal and his muscles respond and toughen up after months of inactivity.

In the exhibition game the Sox dropped to the Cleveland Indians, Teddie fanned twice and towered out to third base, then retired to the clubhouse for Win Green's ministrations.

It's not unusual for heavy swingers to develop muscular sprains in the early stages of spring practice generally from missing hard swings, and a few days of lighter work generally bring them around to feeling fit again.

• • •

No report yet from Dr Charles Bunbacher of the Coral Gables clinic on the condition of Tex Hughson's arm . . . The 6-3 Sox right hander will stay there until his case is completely diagnosed . . . Tex's trouble started last August after he had won five games for the Sox on his return from Louisville . . . He contracted it in a rainy day game against the Browns, which he won . . . That was on a Thursday or Friday. He relieved against the A's the following Sunday and started against the Yankees the next Wednesday . . . It was during the Yankees game that the arm ached so much he had to walk out of the box . . . He hasn't pitched an inning of big league ball since and now there is no telling when he will.

Tex claimed he pitched for two weeks in his Texas home before coming to camp this spring, and thought his arm was sound again. For the first two weeks here he was chipper as a lark. But when he pitched in the second game against the Giants in Miami he was pitiful. Every one of the five batters to face him hit safely, and he retired in favor of Mike Ryba. On his return to Sarasota he was down in the dumps. His wife and infant daughter were here with him, and he was anxious to do well in their presence . . . He's such a high strung lad, we doubt that he'll do the Sox much good this season . . . If the arm does come around, the melody will still linger on, and he'll be afraid to cut loose.

• • •

It is a terrible thing to see a youngster walk off the field with a lame arm. All their lives they are shooting for a big league berth, and when they get an arm injury, it is as if the world fell down around their ears . . .

Stengel Worried Over Javery 47

By BILL GRIMES

SANFORD, Fla., March 20—Since he was introduced as "Per Pakachoag Hills, as about T[illegible]

ed right-hand pitcher from the Casey Stengel of the Braves has been [illegible] some weeks.

Our Case liked Javery from the first time he saw the big fellow in action at Bradenton in the spring of 1940. At that time Javery was on the Hartford list but his fine ball made such an impression that he stepped from a Class B club (Evansville) to the Bees.

About two weeks before he came South this season Javery contracted a heavy cold. After two days in bed he returned to work at the American Optical Co. Failing to realize that he had the "flu" Javery refused to take the necessary precautions and the "bug" got him. He was run-down and sick when he finally reported here. But he donned his uniform and for two days worked out with a fever of over 100.

Before he was taken sick Javery weighed 190. Today he [illegible] trouble tipping the beam at 170.

Javery is a manager's dream ballplayer. It's that we mean, he [illegible] and willing to do his best. Sick or well and within a pro-test he'll go to the hilltop and give his best.

In his condition, Javery probably didn't feel any more like pitching against the Phils after that long bus ride to Miami Beach than he felt the long a marathon back to this town. But he went to the mound and blinded Manager Hans Lobert's charges for three innings during which he not only pitched scoreless ball, but held his opponents to one hit.

When the 1941 Bees pulled the "cold faint" on him, Stengel vowed [illegible]

Augie Galan to Start In Dodgers' Garden

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 20 (AP)—This probably will come as a pleasant surprise to Augie Galan, himself, but Augie is due to start this coming baseball season as the regular left fielder of the Brooklyn Dodgers, supplanting Joe Medwick, who cost the club $125,000 only two years ago.

Medwick, in fact, will be with the National League champions on opening day only in the event that Pres. Larry MacPhail is not successful in his present efforts to trade Joe and holdout Pitcher Whit Wyatt either to the Cincinnati Reds or the Chicago Cubs. A deal of some sort might pop any day now.

It is a tremendous break for Galan, to crash the regular lineup of the club popularly favored to repeat in the National. A year ago he was considered a hopeless baseball cripple, washed up because of an injured knee.

M'PHAIL PLAYS HUNCH

The Chicago Cubs, for whom he had played since 1934, returned him to the minors, and Brooklyn got him for next to nothing. It purely was a hunch on MacPhail's part. And now, through a dramatic series of circumstances, he turns up with one of the most coveted jobs in the game.

Injuries—his willingness to run into the Dodgers' Havana camp this spring completely unheralded and more or less unnoticed. The team's outfield was spoken for with Medwick in left, Pete Reiser in center and Dixie Walker in right. Yes, Manager Leo Durocher says Walker is his right-fielder, even though Dixie temporarily is playing second, on "B" team. Brooklyn fans may relax. Walker simply requires a lot of time to get into condition, and Leo is permitting him to take his time about it.

Anyhow, Galan looked like about a .370-I shot a few weeks ago. He didn't know how his game leg would do. Nobody paid him much mind. Even though he once had [illegible] the Cubs to a flag in '35 with a stick average of .344. Everyone knew he had been a scrapping take-a-chance outfielder with the Cubs. That was what got him his injuries—his willingness to run into a brick wall or two if there was a hope of trapping a fly.

HIT .259 LAST YEAR

[illegible] Then [illegible] sun, and [illegible] field and but Augie was full of [illegible] Walker only felt luxurious and Medwick was [illegible] from the terrible "beaming" he received two seasons ago.

Joe still has a tendency to pull away from certain pitches, to lift his right leg just before he connects with the ball. It has robbed him of much of his power. It is the reason why Galan, the outsider, is about to step into Medwick's left field position.

From the Dodgers' opening exhibition games Galan has been playing as well as ever in his life. His battered legs feel great. He has only to retain his present form to win the nomination in left field.

Wyatt Near End of Holdout

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 20 (AP)—An early compromise between holdout Whitlow Wyatt and the Brooklyn Dodgers was understood today to be likely.

Wyatt, according to a report current among the Dodgers who are here on an exhibition visit is expected to confer with Pres. Lee L. S. MacPhail at Daytona Beach on Monday.

The star pitcher, who won 22 games and lost 10 last season, has asked approximately $22,000 for 1942 and had been offered $13,750, plus bonus provisions that might add a couple more thousand.

Zanelli Choice In Arena Bout

Five sweltering welterweights Bill Tutlight me, North End, and Ralph Zanelli, Providence punch-out in the 10-round main bout of a Goodwin A. C. boxing show tonight at the Boston Arena and one of the best scraps of the season may develop.

Zanelli is cruising his way up the comeback trail. Tutlight me is young and ambitious and has had the experts sitting up and taking notice. He looks like one of the better prospects in this territory.

One or the other will be crowded out of the picture tonight, and the Providence powerhouse is a favorite to survive. Experience gives him the edge and he's a favorite in the betting, but it will be no part of a surprise if Tordiglione triumphs.

It's a make-or-break bout for Zanelli. He has been slugging all opposition recently, adding Billy Lancaster to his victims no longe, ago than last Friday night, and has never been in better condition. He's beginning to look like the Zanelli of old, who punched his way to the top of the welterweight division.

MAIN BOUT

Dartmouth Five Takes On Penn State Tonight

NEW ORLEANS, March 20 (AP)—Big-time basketball hits the deep South here tonight when Dartmouth meets Penn State and Kentucky faces Illinois in the first round of the Eastern eliminations for the National Collegiate Athletic Ass'n championship.

Dartmouth, fresh from beating Princeton for the Ivy League title, offers the most impressive scoring record of the teams here, averaging 56 points a game. Kentucky comes next with 47, Illinois averaged 46 and Penn State 43.

The Dartmouth Indians probably will start with Jim Olsen at center, George Munroe and Bob Myers at forwards and Stan Skaug and Charles Pearson at guards. Munroe and Myers are the highest individual scorers appearing here with 300 or more points each.

Robinson Goes After 299th Ring Victory

NEW YORK, March 20 (AP)—Ray Robinson will try to pull ahead of his idol, Joe Louis, tonight when he fights Norman Rubio of Albany, N. Y., in a 12-round bout at Madison Square Garden.

Ray is one of Joe's greatest admirers. He was born in Detroit, Louis' home town, uses the same training quarters that Joe occupies at Greenwood Lake, N. Y., and like Louis, he's aiming for his 299th consecutive victory. Robinson, in fact, has an even longer string of victories than Louis. He never has been beaten in 117 bouts as an amateur and 28 as a professional.

CLEO DUCKS GRIDIRON FOR DIAMOND

The whereabouts of Cleo O'Donnell, Jr., will-'o-the-wisp halfback, who failed to report to Harvard spring football practice Monday, was disclosed when he cavorted on the grassless turf of Briggs Cage—in baseball uniform.

The slim Worcester lad, son of the St. Anselm's grid mentor, was one of eight football lettermen expected to report to Dick Harlow, but decided to cast his lot with the baseballers.

O'Donnell, an outfielder on Dolph Samborski's frosh nine last spring, looked good in the field, and, batting for the "B" team in a five-inning inter-squad game, rapped out a sharp single. He became the 19th Mass. boy on a squad of an estimated 24, excluding upper-classmen out for the first time.

His appearance further strengthened what is becoming the outstanding characteristic of Crimson nines—the strong local tinge. The 1942 varsity pill-pounders are nine-tenths boys who played their first baseball on Newton, Boston, Dorchester, Brookline, Cambridge and Roslindale sandlots.

Of the pitchers, Lou Clay is from Milton, Warren Berg from Cambridge, Bud Waldstein and Dick Harding hail from Brookline, and Joe Phelan is a Fall River lad. Catchers Paul Delahoyde, Fred Troy, Gerry Callanan, are from Dorchester, Roslindale, and Newton, respectively. The present "A" team infield of Ned Fitzgibbons, Bart Harvey, Jay Gleason, and Gil Whittemore, has just one interloper—Harvey is from Baltimore. The others call Whitman, Newton and Roslindale their homes. Two outfielders, Ed Buckley and Bill Parsons—hail from Minn. and N. Y. The third, Billy Hausserman, is a Milton townie. Art Scully, regular third baseman last season who just transferred from the hoop squad, is another Cambridge product.

Burgy Ayres, football and hockey center, played first on the "B" team, but only, according to his own admission, "for the exercise." Heavy studies will bar him from athletics this spring.

Swim Coach Hal Ulen has named six men to compete in the Eastern intercollegiates at New Haven today and tomorrow; Dashman John Eusden, Capt.-elect and Backstroker Bill Drucker, Darcy Curwen in the breaststroke, Dave Barnes, George Christman and Capt. Tom Shrewsbury in the 440-yard freestyle, and a medley relay team composed of Drucker, Curwen and Eusden.

Al Everts of Newton, national junior tennis champ, will not play baseball this spring, confining his efforts to study and the racquet game.

Best Pitching In Ten Years Seen for B. C.

If past records mean anything the Boston College baseball squad should be equipped with its best pitching staff in past decade.

Three letter-winning chuckers of last year's varsity, a trio of last season's freshman numeral winners and two promising freshmen were included among 16 mound candidates, who with four catchers, reported to Coach Fred Maguire yesterday afternoon on windswept Alumni Field.

The former Braves infield star and present Eagle coach was the acme of contentment as he watched his charges in their first workout.

"We definitely will be stronger on the mound this season," said Maguire between instructions. "If we get some hitting and fielding we'll make up for some of those close ones we dropped last year."

Maguire is particularly enthusiastic about George "Lefty" Bent, Ronnie Corbett and Dick Ferriter, the lettermen; Ed Leary, Tom Hazlett and Frank "Lefty" Callahan, last year's frosh numeral winners; and Bob Lynch Somerville, and Norman "Salty" Martin, Lynn St. Mary's) freshmen huskies. Yearlings will be eligible to compete with the varsity this spring.

El Diablo Next For 'The Angel'

The Angel will have his world's heavyweight wrestling title at stake when he meets El Diablo, the unknown in the green mask, next Wednesday night at the Arena.

The mystery man will give the champ a stiff going over, and whichever way the contest goes the fans will be satisfied. If the Angel wins the fans will have the delight of seeing El Diablo unmasked, and should the outcome be reversed there are always those who enjoy seeing the title change hands.

In the semi-final, Marvin Westenberg, former Shadow and ex-champion of the world, will clash with "Sliding Bill" Hansen, clever performer from Salt Lake City.

B. C. Queries Football Foes On Sunday Games This Season

Boston College may play its football games on Sundays next fall. John P. Curley, graduate manager of athletics at the Heights, admitted today that such a schedule was a "possibility." The Eagle major domo cited "national morale" and defense workers employed on six day week jobs as reasons for the proposed shift from Saturdays to Sundays.

"Boston College has been considering the move for some time," said Curley. "Questionnaires have been sent to athletic authorities of teams that we will meet next fall. No definite answers, however, have been returned."

Boston College will meet St. Anselm (Oct. 3); Wake Forest (Oct. 24); Georgetown (Oct. 31); Temple (Nov. 7); Fordham (Nov. 14); Boston University (Nov. 21); Holy Cross (Nov. 28). Those are Saturday dates.

Fair Sex Dominate Week-End Ski Trails

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

The fair sex will dominate the competitive spring skiing scene on the wide and sweeping Tecumseh Trail in Waterville Valley, N. H., where the United States Eastern Amateur Women's Downhill, Slalom and Combined Championships will again be held on Sunday.

Sponsoring club of this classic is the Black and Blue Trail Smashers of Lowell, Mass., who will have the co-operation of the U. S. Forest Service.

The races are open to classified—A, B and C—amateur women skiers and a much larger field of entrants is expected this year, as more girls have become race-minded and have had the opportunity to become classified.

Word has been received that the present champion, Dorothy Hoyt of Schenectady, N. Y., will not be present to defend her title, but Margaret Phillips, well-known speedster of the Appalachian Mountain Club, who placed second last year, will definitely face the starting flag.

HANOVER GIRLS FAVORED

In our opinion, however, the championships will be won by one of those sensational teen-aged girls from Hanover—Jean Dent, Jane Gile, Polly Hodder or Ruth Stewart. As a team this quartet has already won many events this season, and each lass is equally adept on the winged boards.

Representing the Black and Blue Trail Smashers will be Natalie Cate from Reading, Mass., and Lucy Hawks from Winchester. Both these girls, holders of third place medals from last year, have been practicing on the trail for the past few week-ends and may prove difficult to beat for top honors.

From the Franconia, N. H., Ski Club come three girls who have been improving in each race this year. They are Lydia Wilson, who was the only girl to win her silver cannon on Cannon Mountain this season; Rachel Ball, whose brothers are expert racers, and Franciska Porges, who has shown a great deal of promise. All three bear watching.

The famous Shaw sisters, Marilyn and Barbara, from Stowe, Vt., are expected to enter. These two sisters of the skis are capable of winning in any company.

LASSIES PLENTY SPEEDY

Rebecca Fraser of Woodstock, Vt., who recently set a new women's record for Suicide Six, is another expected starter, as is Ursula Fiske of the same town. Here is a field that could leave most of the male runners gasping in their wake.

The downhill race will start at noon, with the slalom being contested at 2:30 p. m. The course for the latter will be set by Wendy Hilty, noted Swiss ski pro of the Pemigewasset Hotel in Plymouth, N. H. Prizes will be awarded to the first three in downhill, slalom and combined.

BRIMSEK GIVES BRUINS EDGE OVER HAWKS

Conversation and experting concerning the coming Stanley Cup playoff series between the Bruins and Blackhawks, which opens in Chicago Sunday night, has been discussed from almost every angle.

The Cowley situation; the return of Earl Seibert; the revised Bruins fines; past season's records and what not have been taken into consideration but a little thing like goalies has been given the go by.

When you boil this hockey business down, those goalers play important roles—after all the padded guardians of the ice are the last say in opposition scoring which makes their role in these playdowns key posts.

This brings up to Frank Brimsek vs. Sam LoPresti. Both these rival goalers are American born and strangely enough they are fellow townsmen from Eveleth, Minn.

FRANKIE MORE CONSISTENT

LoPresti is larger physically and tends more toward the spectacular than Mr. Zee who is like a cat on his feet and so matter of fact in most cases that his brilliant play is often overlooked.

Of the two, Brimsek is far the greater goalie. He is more consistent and hasn't had a real bad night this year. Despite the mishaps which wrecked the Bruins and resulted in wholesale shakeups during the last eleven games, Brimsek still won the Vezina Trophy for having the fewest goals scored against him.

The Bruins net tender missed one tilt in the 47 he played, he was beaten 115 times.

LoPresti, on the other hand, in 47 games going into last night's windup with Detroit, was beaten 149 times—34 more goals against him than Brimsek despite the fact that the victory records between the two teams are so near alike.

On this basis, the Bruins must be made favorites over the Hawks. All things being anywhere near equal, Brimsek figures to outplay LoPresti to give the Bruins an edge.

SAM RUNS HOT AND COLD

That's the paper analysis—there's just one drawback to this figuring. LoPresti, although inconsistent, is unbeatable when he has one of his great nights. Last year he had one of those nights against the Bruins here at the Garden—he made over 80 stops to set up a new N. H. L. record.

Then there's the case of LoPresti's last game at the Garden two weeks ago. In the first period he made 22 stops and looked like a world beater—in the next two periods he fell apart and was beaten eight times. There's just no telling what he'll do.

If he's off, the Bruins will coast in, if he's "hot" our heroes are going to have a tough night.

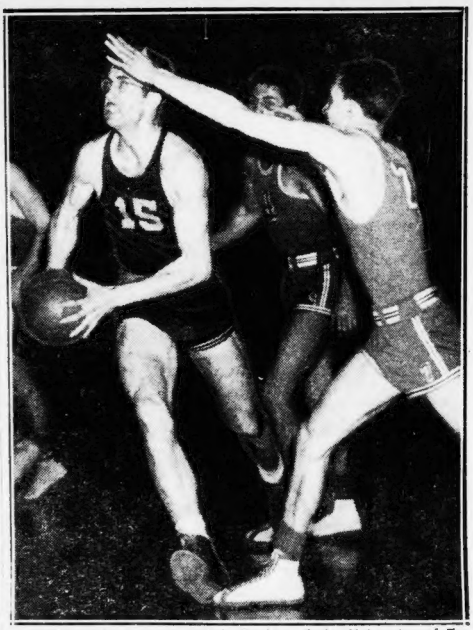
* * *

In a last minute decision Manager Art Ross decided to take 16 players to Chicago, although he can only dress 15 . . . the squad will leave at 3:30 this afternoon for Sunday night's tilt . . . the 16th man will be Lloyd Gronsdal, who is really going for the train ride, but he will be added insurance in case of any mishaps between now and game time.

The Bruins went through a stiff one-hour drill yesterday at the Garden for their final tuneup . . . Art Ross was tremendously pleased with Bill Cowley's skating and stick handling . . . the Cowboy was much more steady than he was against the Americans Tuesday . . . it's possible that the workout could be the last of the year for the Bruins, if anybody wants to be pessimistic . . . if the B's lose Sunday and Tuesday they are through for the year.

Any lingering hope that Dit Clapper might be back can be forgotten—he's through for the year . . . Earl Seibert, backbone of the Hawks, has fully recovered from his "flu" siege and will be ready Sunday . . . "Cully" Dahlstrom is definitely out.

Chicago is the best hockey town in the circuit . . . The Hawks, with a mediocre team, set a new attendance high last year, and are some 20,000 ahead of that figure this winter . . . more than 19,000 will jam the Stadium for the first playoff game Sunday.



"FOUL"—High-scoring Bob Gerber of the University of Toledo is shown just as he is fouled by Stutz Modzelewski (7) of Rhode Island during the second game of a basketball doubleheader at Madison Square Garden. Bob received two foul shots and made both good. The game set a new high in tournament scoring, with Toledo winning, 82 to 71. Gerber scored 17 field goals and 3 fouls for 37 points—a new individual scoring record.

Army Training Cuts 60 Pounds Off Fred Shook

DALLAS, Tex., March 20 (AP)—Fred Shook's in the Army Air Corps, wasted away to a mere shadow.

The Chicago Cardinals football player tried it the first time last August. He tipped the scales at 240 pounds and the Army sent him back to the football wars.

Seven months on two meals a day without bread, butter or potatoes whittled him down to 180.

ARMY BOXERS IN N. E. FINALS

Next Monday night's New England A. A. U. boxing championships at the Garden will not only bring into ring action the outstanding youngsters who have earned their spots in elimination competition, but also two teams of soldier boys from Fort Devens and Camp Edwards.

Chairman Gene Driscoll of the local A. A. U. boxing committee announced that he had received from Capt. Leslie Spinks, athletic officer of Camp Edwards, entries of four of the outstanding camp champions. Every one of these soldier fighters is the camp champion and in addition have won many other amateur big time finals during their boxing career.

Pvt. Carlo Libertory, 23-year-old Fitchburg boy, will be shooting for top honors in the 125's. He is the present Camp Edwards titleholder at the weight and in 1940 he won the 118 pounds championship of the Canadian army. Pvt. William Forgett of Fall River, 23-year-old, is the camp titleholder in the 147 pounds division. He won four fights in the camp competition, three via the k. o. route, and is the 26th Division welterweight king.

WORCESTER, PORTLAND FIVES MEET

NEW HAVEN, Ct., March 20 (AP)—The New England interscholastic basketball championships go into the semi-final round at the Arena here tonight minus the two favorites, but with four powerful offensive clubs still in the running for the Tufts-Fletcher trophy.

Surviving yesterday's and last night's quarter-final games were Worcester North, Portland, Me., and two Connecticut teams, Naugatuck and Waterbury Crosby. Worcester and Portland will square off at 8 o'clock in the first semi-final, while the two home-state quintets clash at 9:30.

In the first game of the opening round, Portland knocked out the tournament favorite, Rindge Tech of Cambridge, 33 to 28, while last night Crosby upset Pawtucket (R. I.) West, ranked close to Rindge, 49 to 46.

In the other game Naugatuck, Connecticut champion, drubbed Springfield, Vt., 57 to 41, in the best game of the session, while in the second afternoon scrap Worcester eliminated Dover, N. H., 32 to 28.

Portland's surprise victory over Rindge was sparked by forward Wodoleigh, whose third-period field goals overcame a 17-14 deficit and carried the Maine Staters to a lead at the beginning of the final chapter which they never relinquished. Woodleigh scored 13 points.

Concede Yale Natators Nine Eastern Crowns

NEW HAVEN, Ct., March 20 (AP)—The big question today of the Eastern Intercollegiate League's annual individual championships was whether Yale's crack swimmers could sweep the two-day program starting tonight.

Even before the first splash, the great squad developed by Coach Bob Kiphuth, which beat powerful Michigan and went undefeated in dual competition this season, was being conceded nine of the 11 crowns by experts, one more than it won last year at Annapolis.

The only events standing between Yale and a monopoly are the 50-yard free style and the 200-yard breast stroke, and should John Meyer of Greenwich, the Blue's ace at the latter distance finish a thesis in time, he might narrow the doubt down to the short dash.

Sixteen colleges represented by more than 90 of their best swimmers and divers are entered—Army, Brooklyn, Columbia, Cornell, Concord (W. Va.) State Teachers, Dartmouth, Harvard, Loyola (Baltimore), Massachusetts State, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Rutgers, Springfield, Syracuse and Yale.

Wallace Wade Takes Orders From Teammate

FT. BRAGG, N. C., March 20 (AP)—Wallace Wade—in the Army now—will serve his first active duty under his old college football teammate, Lieut.-Col. John C. Butner, Jr.

The Duke gridiron mentor and producer of Rose Bowl teams was recently commissioned a major in the field artillery. Col. Butner commands the 10th Training Battalion in the Ft. Bragg field artillery replacement center.

Maj. Wade will be assistant battalion executive and will help plan the physical training schedules to harden and toughen the trainees.

Maj. Wade played guard and Col. Butner played end on the Brown University team that went to the Rose Bowl in 1916.

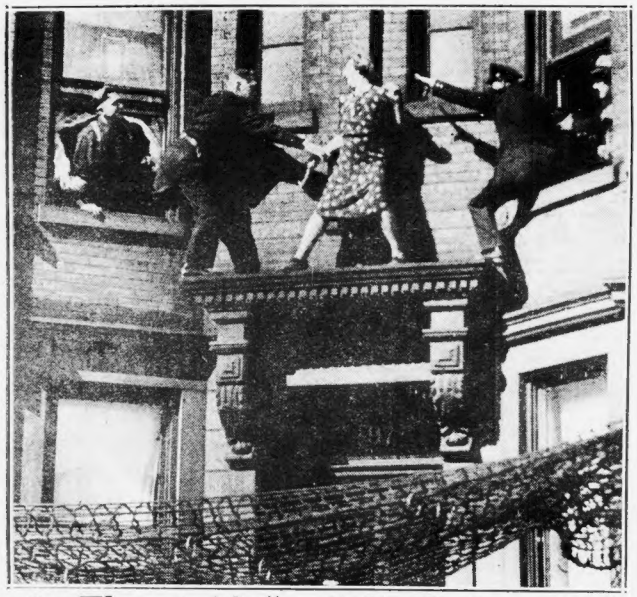
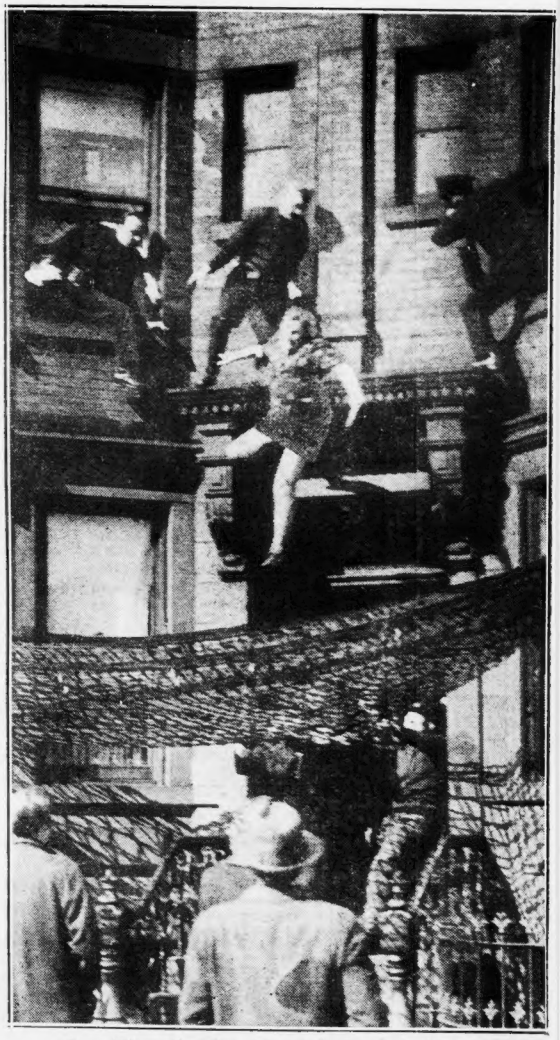
Life on a Ledge Saved in a Net



1—Threat—A Brooklyn residential section witnesses a life and death drama as Mrs. Edna Egbert threatens to jump from a second story ledge in a suicide attempt. On the scene come cops, up goes a safety net . . . and to the rescue go the police.



2—Push—But, Mrs. Egbert refuses to co-operate . . . so, the policemen push . . . and down into the emergency net goes the would-be suicide. Now, No. 3 . . .

3—Safe—Protesting, Mrs. Egbert ends up in hands of police . . . her suicide attempt thwarted. Thus, Brooklyn's police blotter gets another unusual listing.
